LYNCHING DENOUNCED

Mass Meeting Which Crowded One of Denver's Largest Churches.

DEATH PENALTY DEMANDED

Disregard of Law and Savagery of Method Received Severest Condemnation Governor Spoke.

Special to the Gazette

Denver Nov 18—The wave of indignation that swept over the state with the news of the horrible lynching of John Porter at Limon found expression today in a mass meeting called to consider the matter

That Porter deserved death everyone who addressed the meeting practically admitted But that those who took such inhuman vengeance also committed a fiendish crime in so do- was strongly emphasized

he meeting was held at the First ptist church this afternoon and was der the auspices of the Y M C A Hobbs president of the associa presiding

A Sensational Incident.

The meeting at one time came near tting out of the control of the pre [illegible] officer Joel F Vaile had [illegible] ded a very pointed speech which cused the sheriff of Limon county the local authorities in Denver h being largely responsible for the ching Immediately Mayor John was on his feet and indignantly lared that he upheld the law as l as did Mr Vaile The mayor also e a detailed description of how he instructed the police and Mr bat that the lynching could not oc in Denver When the mayor sat n a man in the rear of the house the name of Soddy requested per sion to ask a question The chair- refused but the refusal caused h an uproar that the request was wed The question came as a thunbolt to all and was as follows

How long will it be before you Mr [illegible] as mayor of Denver will pro life as you claim it should have n protected in Limon?

he mayor's face flushed, but he did answer

omeone whose name could not be ned jumped up and voiced the ie sentiment by declaring that his ife had been robbed and murdered 7 o'clock in the evening on one of e best lighted corners on Capitol ll and nothing was ever done about

The remarks of both men brought orth a storm of applause mingled with isses and it was several minutes before order could be restored

Back to Smooth Waters.

The affair served to keep the crowd n an expectant mood from that time ut it also served to render the speakers more careful in their remarks Open discussion of the affair was stopped completely and the programme as rranged was carried out.

Another important feature of the meeting was the denunciatory language that was used against the Denver newspapers for the untruthful tatements and unsightly pictures that hey printed It was openly charged y a number of the speakers that the Denver press was as much responsible or the lynching as were the people of Limon

Programme of the Meeting.

The meeting was opened by singing In the Cross of Christ I Glory' Rev ohn H Houghton read the scripture son from the seventh chapter of the 12th of Ecclesiastes Rev Dr Vos urgh offered prayer The doctor prayed hat discord and hate should be removed from the minds of men and that n may soon learn that Whatsoever e sow that shall ye also reap. He rayed earnestly for Mrs Frost that he might not lose her mind

Mr Hobbs in introducing the speakers, told why the meeting had been alled and what was its purpose He ave a history of the Porter crime icturing how it stirred the passions of he people of that section of the country Continuing he said

The spirit of revenge was fostered a shameful degree by the press of is city Under its influence we could ot expect a calm discussion of the unishment the boy should have been iven That the boy deserved death no e denies but in the meting out of that eath the name of the state has been lotted by a second crime far worse all of its respects than the first

Governor Thomas' Remarks

The interest of the day was centered Governor Thomas remarks But ey were a disappointment to all The overnor failed to answer the charges ade against him neither did he give s opinion regarding capital punishent In part he said

'I think the occasion of this meeting as justified our gathering together I ave no word of blame or condemnaon for the parent who took part in the nching I do not approve of lynch w I did all in my power to protect e prisoner I was horrified upon rerning from Colorado Springs to hear Porter's horrible death" We must pudiate the actions of that mob by ords of condemnation for we cannot dict an entire county' The governor re witness to the fact that District ttorney McAllister wished that the y should be kept in Denver at least days

Mayor Johnson who followed the vernor expressed the opinion that we should not criticize the citizens of Lincoln county for taking the boy's life but for the means they adopted in taking it

Women Denounced Newspapers

Sarah Platt Decker could not attend but she sent a letter which was read The letter said that no condemnation was too severe for the man who murdered John Porter It also said on one hand was one brute while on the other were hundreds of supposed civilized men She severely scored the press of Denver for what it did toward enraging the people against the boy and expressed a wish that the next legislature would put a restriction on the matter of publishing news

Helen L. Grenfell deplored the lynching on account of the wrong ideas it would lead to in the minds of children She said the people of Lincoln had lowered the standard upon which floated the name of Colorado to such a low degree that it never could be raised again except with a remembrance of shame She expressed the opinion that Porter should have been hanged She also paid respects to the Denver press in no soothing language by saying It is a disgrace to the state the way our papers have held this horrible crime before the people and especially before the children

Rabbi Friedman only spoke a few words but they perhaps came nearer being straight to the point than anything said during the day He said

"The point at issue is shall passion or reason control our people? The same passion that took advantage of this girl lighted a flame of a still lower and baser passion The object of society is not revenge The law is supposed to be the arbiter If our laws be at fault let us repeal them but until they are repealed let us obey and enforce them

Mr. Vaile's Speech

Joel F Vaile thought it was a difficult task to speak with moderation on the crime He believed the boy should have suffered death but by lawful process. He criticised Sheriff Freeman in the most denunciatory language and charged that the sheriff was largely responsible not only for the death of the boy in deliberately [illegible] him over to the frenzied mob but for the blot on the state which the [illegible] of the mob had accomplished Mr Vaile spoke very highly of District Attorney McAllister for the position the attorney had taken in the matter In conclusion he offered the criticism on the local authorities which brought forth the incident related above

Rev Dr Slocum president of Colorado College at Colorado Springs was the next speaker He deplored the fact that such terrible means were employed to kill the boy "He thinks the time will come when those who participated in the lynching of the negro will wish that some lawful authority had restrained them He also deplored the incident on account of the impression of the breaking of the laws it will make on the young people He did not forget to criticise severely the newspapers for the way they had presented the affair The professor brought forth the greatest applause of the day by saying I cannot forget the fact that the boy confessed to save his father and brother I cannot and would not if I could forget that that dying negro prayed for his tormentors and persecutors I cannot forget and would not if I could, that in that 16 year-old child the spark of love and forgiveness burned to the last

Rev Robert F Coyle the new pastor of the Central Presbyterian church was the last speaker His talk was largely the expression of wonder that any community could commit such a horrible crime

The Resolutions

Rev Dr Beach then introduced a set of resolutions which was adopted which expressed to the world horror and detestation of the burning alive of the negro The resolutions condemned the crime the negro was guilty of but in even stronger and more emphatic language condemned the manner of his death The resolutions hope that proper laws of punishment will speedily be enacted that will meet just such crimes as this negro committed. The resolutions expressed a hope that a law will be framed whereby lynchers can be brought to justice

Some one in the rear of the house moved as an amendment to the resolutions that the name of the county be changed from Lincoln to that of some one else who bore a reputation to suit the lynching The amendment was declared out of order

The crowd at the church was probably the largest ever gathered in the building A great number of colored people was in attendance

At the different churches tonight the lynching was the subject of the discussion of the preachers With but few exceptions the ideas as expressed in the afternoon meeting regarding the nature of Porter's crime and the punishment that should have been inflicted and the disgrace which the second crime brought upon the state were given

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ACCOUNT OF THE MEETING

Denver Nov 18—A mass meeting as held here for the purpose of pro sting against the action of the mob at mon Colorado which on Friday last rned at the stake John Porter, who d confessed that he murdered eleven-year old Louise Frost C M obbs president of the Y M C A esided Speeches were made by ominent citizens including Governor omas Mayor Johnson of Denver, esident Slocum of Colorado College abbi Freedman and Rev. Coyle of nver, Mrs Sarah Platt D[illegible] prominent in national woman's club circles, and others.

They all spoke in strong terms condemning what was termed the 'Limon atrocity' and also denounced the sensational display of the write ups concerning it in newspapers The audience was stirred to almost riotous demonstrations of approval at times Resolutions admit the difficulty of adequately characterising the crime for which Porter was punished but declare that however much the negro, by his crime, merited [illegible] justify recourse to such barbaric methods and while the action of the people of Lincoln county is attributed to excitement and passion it is none the less condemned and discountenanced Hope is expressed that a law will be speedily enacted in Colorado providing effective punishment for crimes such as incited the torture of Porter, and also that hereafter each and every one will be punished for taking the law into their own hands The remarks of Governor Thomas in part, follows

I do not believe the people of this state are worse than the people of any other state This is as civilized a community as any state in the union and in all of them we hear of occurrences like this when the people have been suddenly aroused to some such terrible act when some such awful horrible crime as this negro's cries to heaven for vengeance For the agonized parents and whatever they have done I have no words of blame or censure Put ourselves in their places and we can understand their wild desire for vengeance

My remarks today are addressed not so much to the fact that death has been inflicted as to the manner in which it was done I do not by this mean to justify lynch law No well regulated citizen can ever justify a departure from the law But every state has these affairs and we are not an exception

The governor then disclaimed any responsibility for the affair saying that he understood that Sheriff Freeman had agreed to leave Porter in jail for eight days and had gone out of town so believing only to return to meet the announcement that the sheriff and his prisoner were on the way to Limon

This awful offense has been committed by an entire county he continued There is no way of reaching these people As Lord Chatham said once You cannot indict an entire nation In Lincoln county these offenders would have to sit on the juries indict themselves pass on the indictments convict themselves and then the chief offender of all the sheriff of the county would have to conduct them to the penitentiary So all we can do is to declare that we as citizens of the same state deplore and condemn this act of barbarity

CORONER'S VERDICT

Limon Colo Nov 18—After being notified that some fragments of bones of a human being had been found on the prairie near this town Coroner Brown and a jury summoned by him gathered up the scarcely visible remains of John Porter, the negro who was burned to death on Friday night and buried them in a small box at the scene of the lynching The jurors signed a verdict to the effect that the remains were those of John Porter and that the death was at the hands of parties unknown

SENATOR DAVIS WORSE.

St Paul Minn. Nov 18—The improvement which had marked the condition of Senator Davis seems to have received a decided check and his physicians report that he passed a very bad night last night and was restless and feverish throughout the day The delirium which was a feature of the disease in the early part of last week has returned and is more marked His pulse has again risen materially, as has also his respiration

IDAHO RETURNS.

Boise Idaho Nov 18—Complete returns from the state election show an average plurality of 1896 for Bryan electors. Hunt, Fusion has a plurality of [illegible] for governor and Glenn Fusion for congress beats Morrison by 1 193.

THE PARIS SHOOTING.

Count de Cornulier's Act Apparently without Justification.

Paris Nov 18 Saturday's tragedy the killing of Countess de Cornulier by her husband was the topic of conversation today at the club and in social circles generally Count de Cornulier's position prior to his marriage was rather humble and after his separation from the countess he lived in a small apartment in the Latin quarter evidently maintaining himself on a very moderate income The countess on the other hand, lived in fine style and it was evident that his changed domestic conditions especially as contrasted with those of the countess greatly depressed him

The statement by M le Roux the advocate at whose apartments the countess was shot that she had placed her affairs in his hands at the suggestion of her father Count de Viennay is corroborated by the latter who emphatically denies that there was any impropriety in relations between his daughter and her legal representative

MISS EDITH BOOTH

An Actress Dead as Result of Being Thrown From a Carriage.

New York Nov 18.—Miss Edith Booth, 23 years old an actress formerly attached to Marie Burroughs' company died in a hospital today from the effects of an accident which she met with last Sunday when she was thrown from a carriage in Central park

SEIZURE OF BAGGAGE

New York, Nov 18—On the arrival of the American line steamship New York today a squad of special agents of the treasury department and some secret service men hurried on board and asked to be shown the stateroom occupied by Miss Dorrance. She had left her room when the special agents reached it and had succeeded in having her two trunks and a large portmanteau passed. The baggage was again overhauled Subsequently one trunk and the portmanteau were sent to the appraiser's store while the other trunk was sent to a hotel.

It was said that Miss Dorrance had brought in much jewelry and about 35 000 worth of unset diamonds for which he had an invoice showing that the diamonds had been sold to her by a Parisian firm

Miss Dorrance declined to discuss the seizure and the treasury officials were equally reticent.

BOTHA STILL FIGHTING

Pretoria Nov 18—It is alleged that Commandant Louis Botha has established a government at Roossendal north of Middelburg and that with the £150 000 which he has available he is paying the fighting burghers a crown per day

From Heidelburg it is reported that the Boers are compelling the burghers who [illegible] to take up [illegible] again under [illegible]

THE CHINESE SETTLEMENT

Peking, Nov 17, via Shanghai Nov 18—The belief that the note of the powers to the Chinese commissioners Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang will be completed soon is strengthened by the results of the recent informal conferences of the ministers of the powers

Mr Conger the United States minister said to a correspondent of the Associated Press

The situation is apparently very favorable to the early beginning of negotiations for a preliminary settlement I believe that the next meeting of the foreign envoys will virtually settle all points of difference between the representatives of the powers who will lose no time in presenting the demands

What the result will be it is impossible to foretell Events have placed China in a very critical position Whether she will be able to preserve her integrity and to save her trade relations with the rest of the world will depend upon what the powers demand in the final settlement and upon her willingness to accept promptly the conditions proposed,

'It is quite unlikely, if not impossible that the Chinese court will return to Peking before next spring but I do not anticipate any serious delay in the progress of the negotiations with the Chinese commissioners as they are in telegraphic communication with the court

Military operations are virtually at a standstill The German and Italian expeditions northward passed through the Nankau pass unopposed

PEKING SANITATION.

Peking Nov 16 via Shanghai Nov 18—Sanitary conditions here are becoming serious. Since the foreign occupation many Chinese have died of smallpox and other infectious diseases Fearing that their funerals would be interfered with they have kept most of their dead in their houses and court yards

The question of removing garbage has become one of great importance The natives are forbidden to deposit refuse in the streets and there is now an enormous accumulation in their dwellings and yards which threatens a serious epidemic In view of the large number of troops in and near the capital the consequences of such an outbreak would be frightful Smallpox is always prevalent in a much more malignant form during the winter season and the danger here is now alarmingly increased

PROBLEMS THAT CONFRONT THE TROOPS IN CHINA

(Correspondence The Associated Press)

Tien tsin Oct 20—Numerous instances of robbery and mistreatment of Chinese by European soldiers have been reported to the authorities and since the withdrawal of the American contingent of the military police of the walled city lawlessness has increased Much of it is laid at the door of recently arrived troops but the Chinese fear of foreigners makes it practically impossible to get evidence against the perpetrators The American coolie gangs have been robbed several times while returning at night to the native city and they assert that the French soldiers did it Now each gang carries a small American flag and as far as reported this has afforded them protection

Several Complaints Made

Within the past few days several complaints have been made to the provisional city government that soldiers have openly looted Chinese houses late at night the Chinese police affording absolutely no protection against foreigners According to Chinese reports small bands of robbers have been committing depredations in villages near the city but so far no organized effort to suppress them has been made by the military authorities In fact the scarcity of troops available for such work and the utter impossibility of locating the guilty parties make such a task a formidable one

Business is rapidly reviving in the native city of Tien tsin, but little new supplies are coming in the demand for transportation being so great that the Chinese merchants are unable to secure vessels The result is a scarcity of food and the statement is made by reliable natives that there is already considerable suffering The scarcity of fuel is becoming felt even among Europeans, and there is little doubt that the Chinese will suffer greatly with the advent of cold weather

Suffering is Probable.

Realizing the conditions which must inevitably prevail when the rigorous northern winter sets in several American officers quietly set on foot a movement to secure aid from the United States for the natives A number of resident foreigners were approached and immediately gave it their emphatic disapproval They asserted at an informal conference that there would be little if any suffering and intimated that it would be highly impolitic to inaugurate a relief expedition at this time Consequently the proposition was dropped but on every hand there is ample evidence that the winter will bring suffering in the already overcrowded Chinese quarters. Hundreds of Chinese have been forced to take refuge in the city from the nearby villages which were practically all destroyed and they are taking possession of the ruins and repairing them as well as possible for shelter

Since the withdrawal of the marines and a part of the Fifteenth infantry to police a large section of the walled town, the provisional government has been somewhat handicapped

The United States is not now represented in the military police On Monday last the American garrison was withdrawn from the south arsenal which was turned over to the provisional government practically intact Only a few rifles were taken from the warehouses commissioned officers being allowed to secure a few relics. The evacuation of the arsenal was made the occasion for a little ceremony Facing the main gate of the building high on the brick wall, there has flown since two days after the Japanese and Americans rushed the south gate an American flag It was the first piece of red white and blue bunting that ever waved from the old fortifications of the ancient city At 8 o'clock the garrison was drawn up under arms the standard sounded by the bugle and at the command Present arms the flag came slowly down

Supplies for Peking.

The problem of placing sufficient supplies in Peking for the large force which is to winter there has afforded a fine test for the quartermaster's and commissary departments of the different forces In fact it has been a contest of methods and systems, and it is generally acknowledged that at present the Americans are ahead While supplies have been going steadily up country for the past two months it was not until the order from Washington directing the retention of the Ninth infantry the Third squadron of the Sixth cavalry and light battery F of the Sixth artillery was received that the quartermaster's and commissary departments were able to properly judge the situation Preparations were begun immediately on receipt of the orders to adequately equip the Peking force General Charles B Humphrey the chief quartermaster who recently arrived immediately gathered an extensive fleet of junks and the work has been pushed vigorously The commissary department in charge of Major Hugh J Gallagher has been rushing in supplies as fast as they can be gotten up from Tong ku, and even at this early date with probably six weeks of navigation left it is felt that the Americans have the supply situation well in hand.

Winter clothing in sufficient quantities for all pressing needs is now in Peking and tentage and camp stoves will be here in time for cold weather The chief problem has been transportation. Every junk and lighter in the Pei-ho region has been pressed into service by the [illegible] and at the start the Americans were somewhat handicapped This however has now been remedied In the matter of animal transport the United States contingent of the Chinese expeditionary force is conceded to be superior of any except perhaps such splendidly equipped Indian pack trains as the British The big army wagons and large mules have been greatly admired by the officers of other forces and the character and quantity of the American supplies have been much complimented

The question of supplying the Peking army for the long and severe winter is a serious one The Pei ho river which affords transportation as far as Tung chao is falling rapidly and rivermen say navigation will be extremely difficult after the middle of November About December 1 the freeze is expected and navigation will entirely close from Ta ku up All transportation will then have to be by pack and wagon trains and there is apparently little chance that the railway will be completed this winter The failure of the Russians to restore the road beyond Yang tsun has caused some severe criticism and it has been openly reported that they did not desire the railway completed The Americans have practically abandoned the railway for supply transportation considerable friction has resulted from the Russian method of operation and the service has of late become so inadequate that little or no attempt has been made by any of the others to utilize the rail

The occupation of Shan hai kwan by the British has relieved the supply situation considerably With the restoration and operation of the railway there will be easy access to Tien tsin all winter as Shan hai kwan is an open port This also makes available a fairly plentiful coal supply from Shan tung on the line of the railway The mines have not been injured and there is said to be a large quantity of coal on the dumps ready for transportation In addition to the several military wires to Peking a commercial line is now nearing completion and there will be no lack of telegraphic communication from the capital this winter should the legations remain there

The German contingent, though superbly equipped in other respects has been badly handicapped by lack of animal transportation For some time foraging parties have been scouring the region around Tien tsin for mules and ponies and carts and the result has been rather an unmilitary looking aggregation of mules donkeys shaggy little ponies and native vehicles, contrasting curiously with the smart and otherwise almost perfect equipment of the force

NAVIGATION REPORT

Washington Nov 18.—The report of Commissioner of Navigation Chamberlain made public today says the past fiscal year has been the most prosperous period known to American shipping for some years. Returns for the current fiscal year promise an even more satisfactory condition.

For the first time since the civil war the documented tonnage of the United States exceeds 5 000 000 [illegible] On June 30 1900, American documented tonnage comprised 23,333 vessels of 5,164,8[illegible] gross tons an increase of 300 000 tons over the previous year Our maximum tonnage was 5,539,813 tons in 1861 Our shipping the report adds in 1861 was larger than France and Germany and nearly equaled the British empire's American vessels are almost wholly confined to the coasting trade, which employed last year 4,338,145 tons or more than the total tonnage of Germany and France. British shipping now amounts to 14 261 000 gross tons

In Foreign Trade

Our tonnage in the foreign trade was only 816 795 tons, and carried this year only 9 per cent of our exports and imports. A century ago American shipping registered for foreign trade was 669 921 tons, while this tonnage now in the 13 original states amounts to 492,907 tons. The report says that for serious competition with foreign nations in the ocean carrying trade we are practically reduced to 97 registered steamships over 1 000 tons aggregating 280 835 tons. Single foreign steamship corporations own greater tonnage Japan has 83 ocean steamships of over 2,000 tons aggregating 286,300 tons. Besides these steamships we have 125 registered square rigged sail vessels of over 1 000 tons each for the deep sea trade More than half of these are over 20 years old and as such vessels disappear their places are not supplied by construction

Our tonnage is distributed between the Atlantic and Gulf coasts 2,727 892 gross tons, great lakes, 1 565,587 tons Pacific coast, including Hawaii 612,984 tons Mississippi and tributary rivers 233,4[illegible] tons. The increase in our shipping during the decade was 740 342 tons, of which 184,512 tons was on the Pacific coast and was due mainly to Alaskan and Hawaiian trade The effective carrying power of the world's merchant fleets has increased 60 per cent.

Notable Changes.

The most notable change in the world's shipping has been in the size of steamships In 18[illegible] there were 1,128 ocean steamships of 4,000 tons or over while now [illegible] such steamships aggregating [illegible] 600,000 [illegible] constitute one fourth of the world's [illegible] tonnage. [illegible]

[illegible] steamship companies of the world own 1 600 steamships or one-fourth in tonnage and more than one quarter in carrying power of the world's ocean steam ships Of these only nine are American It is estimated that during 1899 the gross earnings of steam and sail vessels in the foreign carrying trade of all nations amounted to $700 000 000 The export trade of the United States requires about 20 per cent of the world's aggregate tonnage of the steamships

The problem of ocean transportation at this time the report says is essentially one of transportation by steel screw steamers The purposes to which wooden fore and aft vessels and steel square rigged vessels are adapted are important but restricted The Suez canal reduced opportunities for sail vessels and the Nicaragua canal it is said will further reduce them

In the Past Decade

In the past 10 years Great Britain has built 4 238 steel steamers of 9 93[illegible] 000 tons while the United States has built 45[illegible] steel steam-vessels of 417 000 tons of which 158 of 450 000 tons were built on the great lakes Our entire construction for the decade is much more than half of Great Britain's output of 1 [illegible]40 000 tons during 1899 We have built for the foreign trade since 1890 only 24 steel steamships of 80 000 tons and of this total 11 steamships of 58 000 tons were built as mail steamers under the postal subsidy acts

On August 25 1900, 65 merchant steel steam vessels aggregating [illegible] 000 tons and 4 naval vessels of 13 000 tons (displacement) were building or contracted for

Contracts since that date bring the merchant total up to 350 000 tons including 100 000 tons on the lakes Con[illegible] 90 (displacement) of naval vessels not yet contracted for The current year will record much the largest amount of steel ship building in our history The report says the coasting law and its recent extensions our heavy expenditures for naval construction and the building of vessels to replace those bought for transports and the postal subsidy law have given steel ship building its recent stimulus

Legislation

Mr Chamberlain reviews [illegible] some detail the bills reported to the senate and house of representatives known as the subsidy bills and gives illustration of the difference in cost of building and operating American and British steamships [illegible] He says that the subsidies proposed [illegible] equalize these differences

A freight steamship carrying 5,000 tons cargo now costs $2[illegible]0 000 in the United States compared with $214 000 in Great Britain though steel is much cheaper here than abroad Besides labor cost the advantage lies in the larger scale of production Great Britain being the world's [illegible] store of shipping Monthly wages on the American vessel are $1 200 [illegible] on the British ship.

[illegible] which [illegible] annually and the [illegible] holds that the [illegible] to secure American ocean mail service [illegible] equivalent to those of Great Britain, Germany and France In the [illegible] years Great Britain and her colonies have spent over [illegible] British ocean [illegible] steamships

Cost of Subsidy

On the [illegible] of foreign [illegible] by American [illegible] tons, June [illegible] the [illegible] says the [illegible] bill would [illegible] $1,000 000 and [illegible] the house bill [illegible] Details and estimates show that with the additional shipping eligible the [illegible] the first year of the bill's operation would be about $4,000 [illegible] The [illegible] of $9 000 000 it is said probably [illegible] be attained during 1904-5 when a reduction of subsidy rate would be [illegible] By that time the building of [illegible] ocean steam ships and the necessary increase in [illegible] extent of our ship yards the report declares, we will have materially reduced the cost of ship building in the United [illegible] with Great Britain and Germany Under the bill in five years American steam [illegible] would [illegible] 000,000 [illegible] sufficient to carry about one third of [illegible] trade.

Tonnage taxes were [illegible] In view of our great expenditures for labor improvements and lighting the coast, the report declares there seems to be no reason why our tonnage taxes should be so much less than corresponding foreign charges

ICE TRUST

Albany N Y Nov 18.—Gov Roosevelt has prepared the following memorandum of the charges against Mayor Van Wyck of New York city in the ice trust matter

There are three wholly distinct sides to the ice trust matter

In the first place there is the general question whether the American Ice company dealing as it does, in a necessity of life to the poor people of New York was one into which it was proper for a public spirited man to enter This is of course not a question for legal action in any shape or form. Moreover it is unnecessary to point out that whether the corporation is legal or illegal proper or improper in character it is an act of utter hypocrisy on the part of any public man to denounce trusts in general and this trust in particular in the platform and on the stump while he at the same time in his private capacity holds stock or has held stock that he thus denounces

Attention is called to this feature simply because an effort has been made to show that unless legal action against the trust or some of its stockholders can be taken these same public men are to be exonerated

Second there is the question whether or not the existence of this so-called ice trust is in violation of the anti trust law This of course can only be decided by the courts

"On May 28 1900 the attorney general instituted proceedings to annul the certificate of the American Ice company under this law The corporation through its counsel has fought the action at every stage on technicalities, on the merits of the case The first decision before Judge Chester was in favor of the state An appeal has been taken by the defendants which was argued weeks ago and the attorney general is daily expecting a decision by the appellate division on this appeal. The defendants obtained a stay of proceedings pending the appeal All possible diligence has been shown by the attorney general in the effort to secure the annulment of the certificate and nothing could have been done by the state to expedite proceedings which has not been done The delay is due of course to the course of the corporation itself whose stockholders include the public men above alluded to

"We now come to the third side of the matter the only one in which the governor, in his official capacity has any power whatsoever to act viz The charges against Mayor Van Wyck.

Inasmuch as the question as to whether the ice corporation is or is not a trust, or monopoly is before the courts for decision, Until they have acted, action by the governor [illegible] only with propriety be taken [illegible] City of New York [illegible] the charges are brought under this charter it makes no difference as regards the mayor's conduct whether the aforesaid corporation is or is not a trust, within the meaning of the law "

ACTIVITY IN PHILIPPINES

Many Skirmishes and Several Small Engagements Reported.

AMERICANS ARE AGGRESSIVE

General Grant's Successful Advance on a Rebel Stronghold 35 Miles North of Manila.

(First Uncensored News by Cablegram Since the American Occupation.)

Manila Nov 18—Last week witnessed a very considerable increase in rebel and American activity in the field Many skirmishes occurred and several small engagements in northern and southern Luzon The termination of the rains results in a resumption of operations on both sides

The Americans are making a series of aggressive movements against the insurgents notably on the island of Samar against Gen Lukban whose forces hold the entire island with the exception of three coast towns each of which is garrisoned by two companies of the Twenty ninth infantry and a platoon of artillery The rebels are continually shooting into the garrisoned towns and our forces have not been sufficient to retaliate effectively Commerce in Samar has been at a standstill and most of the influential inhabitants have departed

Campaign Against Lukban

Gen Hare has arrived there with 250 men He will bring eight companies of the Second infantry from the island of Marinduque and will proceed energetically to crush Gen Lukban Meanwhile United States gunboats will patrol the coast to prevent the escape of the insurgent leader Lukban still holds three members of the Forty-third regiment as prisoners. The rifles which the party of Capt D Shields of Company F Twenty ninth volunteer infantry lost last September in Marinduque at the time of the capture have not yet been returned from the insurgents

Notable among the week's engagements was General Grant's advance with [illegible] on a rebel stronghold 35 miles north of Manila which was defended by 2[illegible]4 insurgents, armed with rifles. After [illegible] and fighting for the greater part of a day and night the enemy was dislodged and immense quantities of rice and stores with ammunition were destroyed Fifty Filipinos were killed and many others wounded The insurgents carried off their dead The American loss were 11 privates and one officer wounded and one Macabebe killed.

Lieut Frederick W Alstaetter of the engineers who was captured by the insurgents in Luzon last September has sent with the permission of his captors a letter to Manila asking for food money and clothing which will be forwarded to him by a native runner His health is broken and his release is probable

Reinforcements for Young

Gen Wheaton commanding in the department of northern Luzon is sending reinforcements to Gen Young's province where the natives under Generals Tirio and Aglipay the excommunicated Filipino priest are showing signs of restlessness, deserting the domiciles that they have occupied during the rainy season and joining under compulsion of fear the insurgents in the mountains

A DISASTROUS FIRE IN OSWAYO PENNSYLVANIA

Oswayo, Pa., Nov 18—Four men were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the McGonigal house a three story frame building and the [illegible] adjoining and several others were injured The buildings were burned to the ground in half an hour's time.

The dead

Arthur Fletcher bookkeeper for Pennsylvania Stave company
Michael Ri[illegible] employe Pennsylvania Tanning company
William Hutsmey Roxford N Y
Hugh Jameson of Alfred N Y

Otto Gauley a gas line walker was burned about the face and arms and Jerry Boley sustained a broken shoulder by jumping from the third story of the hotel

One man had a leg broken in jumping and several others received minor injuries and slight burns in making their exit from the hotel

The fire originated in the McGonigal house from an overheated stove [illegible] There were thirty people in the hotel which was a flimsy structure and the flames licked up the structure as if it were tinder

There were many narrow escapes most of the occupants jumping from windows. The town has no fire protection The tannery company connected a line of hose to the burning buildings but on account of trouble with the pump there was considerable delay in getting a stream on the fire and the flames got beyond control Nothing remains of the four [illegible] but a few charred beams

The property loss is insignificant

DISPERSING BOXERS IN THE PROVINCE OF CHI-LI

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)

Tien tsin Oct 21—Reports from all directions in Chi-li province indicate that the imperial troops are at least making a show of punishing and dispersing the Boxers. It is understood in reliable Chinese circles that this movement which was promised by Li Hung Chang on his return from the south would assume larger and more general proportions if the authorities were sure of security from attacks on imperial troops by the allied forces. This fear was well grounded as was shown by the reported attack of a body of French on an imperial force of 2 000 troops which were operating to the south in the direction of Pao ting-fu. As cabled the Associated Press the British column of the Pao-ting-fu expedition, commanded by General Lorne Campbell found a small body of imperial troops at Wen au-hsien about 50 miles southwest of here These men on being interrogated asserted that they had been sent out from Pachou to disperse the Boxers, and had severely punished several villages and killed more than 200 Boxers While returning to Pachou they met a column of French who fired upon them and dispersed them General Campbell took their arms and horses and returned the[illegible]

At a number of villages scouting parties have found the heads of Boxers on the walls. Advices from Ping-tu state that 5 000 men of Yuan's force have killed a large number of Boxers and there is scarcely a market town but whose walls are adorned with the ghastly evidences of punishment. At Ping tu city it is stated that among the victims of Yuan's troops were a number of mere lads whom the soldiers tried to spare their fanaticism, however, led them to resist the troops and they were put to death. Repeated evidence of the sincerity of the Chinese authorities in this direction are having an effect and there is a growing belief that if some assurance could be obtained that the imperial troops will not suffer molestation by the allies they are amply able to quell any local disturbances in the south

Yuan's troops have also been active in southwest Wu-ting fu where it is said that early in the summer an entire community of native Christians numbering about [illegible] families was massacred by Boxers [illegible] sent a force to that region recently and it is reported they executed the perpetrators of the outrage, killing 70 of them.

BANK SHORTAGE.

German National Bank at Newport, Kentucky, Closed.

Assistant Cashier Missing with About $200,000 Worked the Institution to the Limit.

Cincinnati Nov 18—United States Bank Examiner Tucker today took possession of the German National bank at Newport Ky and posted a notice that the bank would remain closed pending an examination He also announced unofficially that Frank M Brown the assistant cashier was missing and that a partial investigation showed that he was short about $201 000

Brown who is the son of Paris C Brown ex mayor of Newport and one of the leading business men of Cincinnati has been with the bank for 15 years and was one of its most trusted men

Experts state that his operations extend over a period of 10 years He left on a vacation last Wednesday and is supposed to be out of the country It is generally believed that he has taken with him a considerable sum of money

Brown's alleged shortage had been rumored for some time, but the bank officials and directors have repeatedly declared that his accounts were correct and that everything was all right

Wild Scenes Witnessed

The wildest scenes were witnessed in Newport today when Examiner Tucker's announcement was made public and serious trouble is expected tomorrow

The capital stock of the bank is only $100 000 Brown's shortage is double that amount and more than the reserve and all the assets including the bank's real [illegible] limit for a small bank

For two weeks there have been rumors that Brown was short and some depositors withdrew their accounts Three weeks ago the bank examiners made a good statement and the officers and directors allayed suspicion by referring to this report and to their last statement

Last Wednesday Brown left the city and it was announced that he had gone on a vacation He did get a ticket for Odin Ill but it is learned that he did not go there and it is generally believed that he is out of the country with plenty of money in his possession It is learned that Brown was suspended last Tuesday pending an investigation and that experts have been at work all the past week

Constant Reassurance

Last Friday the officers and directors published in the papers of this city a statement that the bank had been found to be all right and the rumors about Brown were false They continued making these statements to the press as late as last midnight but the statements were not accepted by the Commercial Tribune which exposed the shortage and caused a panic in Newport today so that the bank had to be taken in charge by the examiner The wildest scenes resulted and serious trouble is feared tomorrow when the officers and directors will be confronted by the people

Brown it is alleged was living a fast life His career was cut short by a jealous woman who gave the bank officials information that brought about a crisis The only farewell letter that Brown is known to have left was to this woman who lives in Cincinnati and in this letter he admits that he had secured about all that he could get and that the time had come to say farewell Brown was a great poker player with the limit it is said never too high and he has been a plunger on horse races for years His bets on the races it is alleged were frequently too high for the pool rooms in Covington Ky and he had brokers in both Chicago and New York

Will Make Loss Good

The officers of the bank are wealthy and responsible men and they will be able to make the losses good

Among the directors is Paris C Brown the father of the defaulter who is known from Pittsburg to New Orleans as the head of the stores for boat supplies The cashier of this bank is also paying teller and Brown relieved him as paying teller when the cashier went to his dinner It is stated that Brown did most of his work during the noon lunch of the cashier

The First National bank of Newport was wrecked two years ago by Cashier Youtsey and now with the German National closed Newport has but one bank left.

NEWS AND NOTES OF COLORADO CITY

The third annual ball of the Switchmen's union, held Friday evening in the A. O. U. W. hall, proved to be one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the year at Colorado City. It was a great success in many ways and those who attended were entertained in a most delightful manner. The hall was crowded with merry dancers during the entire evening. Mr. Julius Falk's orchestra furnished enjoyable music for the occasion. A pleasing feature of the evening was a prize waltz in which a number of couples took part. The judges for the contest were C. E. Evans, W. J. Snider and H. B. Young. After the contest the judges held a short conference and decided to award the lady's prize to Miss Crittenden, and the gentleman's prize to Mr. Adolph Anderson. The prizes were a pair of dancing slippers and a handsome pocket book. Between the hours of 11:30 and 1 o'clock an elegant supper was served at O. P. Haslett's cafe. About 200 people were served during the evening.

The city council will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening. The council will be asked to consider several petitions from citizens in different parts of the city. Routine business will be transacted.

A social meeting of the teachers of the city schools was held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. F. F. Schreiber on Monroe avenue for the purpose of organizing a literary club. A number of other interested persons were present at the meeting. The matter was discussed and final arrangements were made for the organization. Classes for special courses were formed and plans were made for each. It was decided to secure Miss McDonald, a well known teacher of literature and lecturer of Colorado Springs, to conduct the classes. The first work which is to be taken up will be a course in master pieces of fiction. Meetings will be held each Monday evening for a few weeks.

Charles L. Cunningham reports the sale of lot 18, block 148, from John Townsend to Andrew Webberbour; lots 8 and 10, block 126, from W. L. Shair to A. C. Dewer, and lot 22, block 225, from H. Larson to Anna Merritt.

Charles Stratt, Andrew Steffan and Fred Nodwing, the men who were seriously injured in a cave-in at the new smelter last Wednesday morning, are fast recovering and will soon be able to be out again.

Messrs. Arteburn and Perkey have commenced the erection of a fine new livery barn on the northwest corner of Colorado avenue and Sixth street. It will be built entirely of brick and other fire proof material. The foundation is now being laid and work will soon be commenced on the walls.

Columbine Lodge No. 36, Degree of Honor, is planning to give a social dance on Friday evening, December 21, in the A. O. U. W. hall.

Thirty-five fine new books have recently been placed on the shelves of the Woman's library. They comprise some of the most popular modern books and are a valuable addition to the library. The books compose ten volumes of "Six Thousand Years of History," ten volumes of "Literature of All Nations" and fifteen volumes of popular fiction.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold a social next Tuesday evening at No. 627 Colorado avenue. The public is cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Miss Neva Sanner went to Denver yesterday morning to spend a few weeks visiting with friends.

Judge L. W. Cunningham and family expect to leave in a few days for an extended trip through the south. They will be away until after the holidays.

Dr. I. E. Wintercaltz and family spent a few days of last week visiting with friends in Cripple Creek.

John Newlander, who was painfully injured last Sunday as a result of falling from one of the buildings at the new smelter which is being erected just south of the Colorado-Philadelphia plant is still confined to his house. His injuries are of a serious nature and it will be some time before he is able to be out.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Newell of Glasgow, Kansas, have arrived in the city to spend a few days visiting with relatives. After a visit in this city they will go to California to spend a few months.

FOOTBALL AS SHE IS PLAYED IN KENTUCKY

Cincinnati, Ohio., Nov. 17.—The football team of the University of Cincinnati arrived home at a late hour tonight from their game with the team of Center College at Danville, Ky., and it was about the most crippled combination that ever reached the local depot, most of the players being taken direct to the city hospital. The game broke up in a fight. According to their versions of the row, the Danville players kicked on the first decision of Referee Hoffman. When the referee ordered a Danville player out of the game the spectators closed in on him and on the visiting team. Clubs, stones, slugs and even deadly weapons were used as soon as the visitors and the referee quit.

Among the Cincinnati players most seriously injured were Coach Reed, head badly cut; Cook, scalp laid open; Senayer, head badly cut; Vanmake, injured in head and body; Smedley injured on head and arm.

It was necessary for the authorities to come to the rescue of the visitors and deputies were sworn in to escort the Cincinnati players to Danville station. Even with such an escort the attack was continued and the driver of the omnibus that carried the Cincinnati boys to the station had his arm broken by a stone that was thrown. One of the Cincinnati players took the reins and drove on to the station.

A General View of the Paris Exposition.

Of all the great fairs or expositions that at Paris in 1900 presented the most exasperating problem to the camera. While there was much that was beautiful in detail, the general effect was sadly disappointing, because of the proximity of the cheap and tawdry; and the tenement-like crowding of the great and small buildings made a confused picture to the eye and an impossibility for the photographer. From the top of the Trocadero palace the panorama before the eyes was finer than from any other point within or without the grounds. The whole exposition lay before one to the south. Toward the east was the river Seine flowing in a graceful curve, bordered on either side with beautiful buildings of creamy white and smaller buildings of all hue, linked together by artistic bridges under which the busy little Seine boats swiftly passed, while the dense masses of trees here and there seemed to act as settings for the brilliant buildings. The garden of the Tuileries, the Louvre, and the tower of Notre Dame formed a background which vanished in the smoke of the busy city beyond.—(From "A Camera at the Fair," by Dwight L. Elmendorf, in the November Scribner's.

YALE'S FAMOUS ENDS INTERFERENCE.

ONE OF THE FORMATIONS THAT HAS BEEN DEVELOPED BY THE YALE COACHES LARGELY THIS SEASON.

SOME OPINIONS ON SATURDAY'S GAME

The football game on Saturday was the talk of the city on Saturday night and yesterday. The following were some opinions expressed by college and Boulder men and others after the game:

COACH EWING.

"I am more than pleased with the showing of the team. I knew that the men had it in them to play good football and I was sure that this game would bring it out, and it did. The men showed the proper spirit. It was a badly crippled-up team that represented the college, but no man shirked, and although it must have been intense agony to some of them, they played with it like true men.

"I have not a word of censure for any of the team. There were 11 men in each play and the team work was very satisfactory to me. We won, and we won fairly. Boulder admits it and no one can deny it. We intend to defeat Golden with the same spirit that we put into today's game."

COACH MORTIMER.

"You can say for me as coach of the Boulder team that we were outclassed. Of course we were badly crippled. Four of our regular men were not down at all and two of those who did play were not in any condition to appear on the gridiron. Physically were were outclassed. If we had had all our men here the score might have been different."

CAPTAIN GRIFFITH.

"I was particularly pleased with the spirit which the men manifested. There was no shirking and each man played his best. It was the unanimity of purpose which won for us. The men played together and each did his part. I have nothing but praise for my men. In view of their crippled condition they surprised me, but I felt sure that they would fight to the last ditch."

CAPTAIN TURMAN.

"You say for me that we were beaten by a better team. It was what I expected, but I did not think the score would be so large. I think the game between Colorado College and Golden will be very close."

REFEREE F. B. ABERNATHY.

"It was the hardest game to follow that I have seen for some time. The frequent kicking and the frequent occasions where decisions as to the necessary gains had to be very close, made it a hard game to keep up with. It was not an easy game from the standpoint of either the referee or the umpire. I think that Colorado College has a superior team as the two stand today and won on its merits. Boulder, however, played hard to the last and both teams can well take pride in the improvement which they have made during the last two weeks."

R. J. BARDWELL, UMPIRE.

"It was a good game. The best team won, in my opinion. The college team excels Boulder particularly in the kicking game. The college ends gets down the field in good shape and nearly always get the man who catches the ball, in his tracks."

B. M. HOLT, MANAGER C. C.

"It was a great game and I am perfectly satisfied with the team. The boys outplayed Boulder at all points. The college defense was something remarkable at times, especially in view of the crippled condition of the team. We are going to beat Golden on Thanksgiving day."

F. S. CALDWELL.

F. S. Caldwell, end on last year's team, who has been assisting in coaching the team during the past week: "I lost a week's work to come down to help the boys win today's game, but I feel repaid for it. It was a hard-fought game and the college deserves the victory. I am proud of the team and of the college. That man Wheeler is a wonder, but then the whole team did so well that I couldn't pick out any man to praise particularly. I think Griffith and Packard deserve great credit for the nerve they displayed."

SOME OF THE PLAYERS.

Thayer, Boulder's left half back: "Well, you beat us and that's all there is to it."

Hoyne, Colorado College's left half back: "Did you see any of the yellow streak today?"

Rice, the college right guard: "Boulder can't bring a team down here that can beat us."

Dr. Joseph Rogers, former quarterback of the Boulder team: "The best team won. Boulder was beaten by a better team."

"Pete" Becker, captain of the Golden team who saw Saturday's game here, said: "It was a very good game. Colorado College thoroughly outclassed Boulder and won deservedly. Judging from today's play and the present condition of the Golden team, however, I am reasonably confident of victory on Thanksgiving day."

Walter Ehrich, who is attending the School of Mines, but who was down to see Saturday's game, said: "I think the game between Colorado College and Golden will be very close."

The Man at the Other End of the Bargain.

Nathan Strauss, the great New York merchant, when asked what contributed most to his remarkable career, said: "I always looked out for the man at the other end of the bargain."

What a lesson these words contain for the young man of today who thinks that long-headedness, shrewdness, cunning and sharpness are the only success-qualities worth cultivating!

Mr. Strauss says that, if he got a bad bargain himself, he could stand it, even if his losses were heavy, but that he could never afford to have the man who dealt with him get a bad bargain. He felt that his own loss, however great, might possibly be repaired; but that, if a man who had dealings with him should lose, or be deceived thereby, nothing could ever compensate him (Mr. Strauss) for this, as his character would be permanently injured.—(November "Success."

PRIMROSE AND DOCKSTADER.

Primrose and Dockstader and their company of minstrel artists will make their annual visit to the opera house on next Saturday afternoon and evening, where they will stay for presenting a performance of genuine minstrelsy, as each and every member of this up-to-date organization will don burnt cork, and when the curtain goes up on the first part it will be seen that this form of entertainment has at last been placed where it belongs in the amusement world, giving the public what it wants, pure and wholesome fun and up-to-date novelties. It is no misnomer to call the Primrose and Dockstader minstrels the only first class minstrel performance in the world.

HER BRILLIANT TRIUMPHS.

Lillian Blauvelt sang in Pittsburg last Saturday. In order that our readers may have some conception of the rare musical treat which is in store for them Thursday night they should read the following notices taken from the Pittsburg papers.

The Pittsburg Gazette said:

"Carnegie Music hall was filled, the audience being no less in numbers and in enthusiasm than a week ago. The novelty of the occasion was to be found in the reappearance of Miss Lillian Blauvelt in Pittsburg. It will be remembered that Miss Blauvelt sang on the opening day of the Carnegie Institute, and since that time, when she was one of the sweetest of concert singers, she has been gaining strength and power until now she stands without a peer on the concert stage. People went to the concert last night to hear the soloist as much as the orchestra. Always ranked as a colorateur artist, in which class Melba and Sembrich are eminent, the audience last night was surprised not a little at the brilliancy of her singing. Her voice has gained materially in breadth and power. Her opening number, the aria from the mad scene in "Hamlet," by A. Thomas, showed her at her best in her special forte, that of colorature. But it was the dramatic expression, the breadth of style and the superb vocalization which made her appear the greater artist than a few years ago. Her pure, sweet, even tones and the facility and the ease with which she sang delighted the most exacting of critics, who were further pleased during the second half of the programme when she sang a group of songs from both modern and classic composers."

THE SINGING GIRL.

Much praise has been accorded the scenery of Alice Nielsen's opera "The Singing Girl," which will be presented at the opera house on Tuesday evening. The different stage settings are from the studio of Josef Physioc and are, it is claimed, correct pictures of the architecture and localities of the period. The first scene depicts the Haupt Platz or Franz-Joseph Platz of the picturesque old Austrian city of Linz in 1820. The beautiful blue Danube flows dreamily through the middle distance of the picture to Herbert's and not to Strauss' music, while in perspective the hills of distant Salzburg rise sharply from the opposite bank of the poetic river, and scout away to the schloss and mountains of ancient Styria. The scene for Act II is a brilliantly colored ball room in the ducal palace with a distant view of the moon-lit river shown through great uncurtained windows. Act III presents a daybreak scene of bivouac on an eminence overlooking Linz, with another view of schloss, convent and river.

QUO VADIS.

Under the direction of F. C. Whitney and Edwin Knowles, prominent New York managers and producers, Stanislaus Stange's dramatization of Sienkiewicz's celebrated romance "Quo Vadis" is to be given in this city Friday evening. The production last season enjoyed protracted runs in London, New York and Chicago, and will be given here on the same elaborate scale of magnificence. In the company will be than 80 people, including such prominent players as Harry Roberts, Marcus Ford, Joseph Callahan, Edward Powell, Geo. Schaeffer, Richard Thornton, Willard Newell, Henry Stanley, Peter Marriott, Julius Schweder, Bert Hart, Henry Buckler, Fred Arundel, Freddy Mansfield, Theo. Marston, W. W. Utter, Theodore Perry, Mary Emerson, Winnifred Bonnewitz, Mae Keane, Ellen Hill, Grace Turner, Florence Stanley, Annie Richards, Marie Barringer, Susie Knight and Edna Harrington. Julian Edwards' music for "Quo Vadis" is pronounced a feature of the play. It includes choruses for the Christians, bacchanalian songs and dances, an overture, and the dramatic and incidental music.

MISS KATHRYN KIDDER

Beautiful beyond words and pictures is Kathryn Kidder, the popular actress now appearing with Louis James in a magnificent revival of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Here is an artistic photograph of Miss Kidder in character.

The Room at the Top is Growing.

Daniel Webster said a great many good and true things in his time, but he never said anything better or truer than this: "There is always room at the top." There is more room there now than ever before. The room is growing, and it is to be occupied, not by people born to it as an estate, but by those who have the courage to believe in themselves and the ability to struggle until they reach it.

The great hunger of the time is for good men. There does not seem to be enough good men to go around.

There is competition for those that are available. There is plenty of room, plenty of opportunity, no matter what business you are in. You get a training in coming in contact with men. Your wits are sharpened. You meet cranks and peculiar men of all kinds, but you must learn to put up with their peculiarities. Always look pleasant; be good natured. If a man is cross, don't get cross, but make him feel small by being good natured. Success comes with good nature, remember that, and always stick to your purpose. If things look dark and are apparently against you, do not be discouraged. If you are, you will begin to feel that everything is designed to keep you down, and all are against you. They will be, if you let that feeling master you. Concentration of thought and action wins. A purpose, definite and fixed, rallies the whole man, and he goes for his object with his whole soul. It is the man who attempts to do a dozen things who fails. He scatters his forces to such an extent that he accomplishes nothing. He hits at nothing hard; his best blows do not amount to much; they may amuse or entertain, but that is all. He needs to localize his efforts. It is the human element of power that carries great reforms, achieves mighty revolutions, and makes the world better. It is the power that is now pushing the world forward in its marvelous progress.

One lesson I want to impart, and fix in your minds. You must not insist too much on your defects or deficiencies. Find out what kind of capacities you have. (Everybody has some.) and work those for all they are worth. If you do this honestly, you will be successful in what you have undertaken. You may not be able to write an opera, fight a great battle, or paint a great picture, but you will succeed in that thing for which you have genuine capacity and fitness. Life has no greater prize for any man.—(H. H. Vreeland in Success for November.

REGULAR PRICES CUT $90.00 TO $200.00

Every Piano Marked With a White Tag in Plain Figures--Your Own Terms of Payment--Pay What You Can, Pay as You Can--Not One Penny Added If You Buy on Time.

It is probable, at least possible, that the Knight-Campbell Music Co. may never again conduct in this city a "sale" of pianos; at any rate they will not do so for a long time to come. If you have any notion of buying a piano at all, this opportunity will prove a golden one.

The selection of pianos for this "sale" is the finest we have ever shown, and includes the leading makes of high-grade pianos. There are none better.

Our store, lately remodeled and enlarged, will accommodate upward of 75 to 100 instruments, and in the light of experience in previous "sales" in this city, it is completely stocked with pianos in English and American, plain and fancy burl walnut, uniquely and elegantly carved mahogany, light and dark oak cases. Each and every one will be sold under our signed guarantee of perfection.

Every instrument is plainly marked at our regular agents' selling price, and from this price you may deduct $90 to $200. Deduct this amount yourself, pay a small amount down, if you wish, and the balance will be extended over two or more years' time.

Christmas time is not far away, and what more appropriate, more useful, more ornamental or more refined Christmas present can you imagine? A piano will add much to the cheerfulness and attractiveness of your home. It is in itself an incentive to education, morality and the higher ideals in life. You can buy it now, save a good $100 or more, pay a little down and the balance as you wish, and the piano will be delivered right in your home Christmas eve, if you desire.

We here mention a few of the popular prices: $17[illegible], $231, $276, $311, $328, $347, $217, $289, $1[illegible], $223 up to $800 and $900.

"Sale" will begin Monday morning at 9 o'clock and continue for ten days only.

Since prices cannot change and terms are just what you wish to make them, why not be first and get first selection?

ROSEBERY'S REVERIE.

LORD ROSEBERY, the great English statesman, delivered an address in Glasgow on Friday which may be fairly described as a vision of the united Anglo Saxon race. In the course of his address the Liberal leader undertook to describe what might have been if the American colonies had not rebelled against England and established a nation for themselves He pictured the gradual development of a federal representative system within the limits of the empire, and the possible preponderance of the American members of parliament, resulting in the peaceable and constitutional removal of the seat of empire to America from England, leaving that island as 'the European outpost of a world-power."

Taken in connection with the recent speech of Lord Salisbury this address of Lord Rosebery gives most striking proof of the pessimism that is now prevalent throughout England, a pessimism based upon a reasonable belief that not for long can the little island continue to hold its position as the dominant world-power. The fear of Russia, the distrust of Germany as a commercial rival, and a hope that the United States may in some way serve as a mainstay for Britain's trembling power are the main features of the English outlook at the present time

To Americans such a situation is certainly gratifying, whether we view it in a narrow or a broad way The mother country, for such it may fairly be called whether we trace our race descent from English, Irish or continental blood, is no longer truculent and hostile, but on the contrary is disposed to do everything that a self-respecting nation may do to cultivate our friendship and good will. The people who hate England, and there are a great many of them in this country as well as others, have frequent cause of rejoicing in the evidence that British paramountcy in trade is seriously threatened, while on the other hand those Americans who believe that the English people are more nearly akin to us in sentiment and more nearly allied with us in interest than any other, have good reason to feel pleased with a condition that is certainly drawing the two nations nearer together, disclosing more and more their identity of purpose and interest, and that may ultimately bring about relations of world-wide influence and importance.

We cannot believe that among the American readers of Lord Rosebery's speech there is a single one who will wish that things had gone differently in that far distant time. We cannot believe that if the American colonies had not revolted successfully that the progress of the western world would have been accomplished as rapidly or as broadly as it has been We believe that freedom and independence have been the great stimulus to our growth, and that as an English colony the fruits of the century would have been less for us in every way. Not only that, but England, herself, might have, would have been deficient in many things that she has gained and learned as a result of the loss of her American colonies

But Lord Rosebery's speech has opened an interesting field of speculation in which Americans as well as Englishmen may profitably engage Is it possible to secure in any way the benefits that might have come from continued union, while retaining all those which are the result of independent political existence? Frankly, we believe that it is possible It is a narrow and unprogressive view that sees no possibility of mutual benefit and common action by states except within the ties of political union. One of the greatest lessons of the success of the American republic has been the proof of the possibilities of the idea of federation and proportional representation combined with local self-government. Already the idea has passed beyond national boundaries Our system of forty-five states, each one of almost national proportions, united for the advancement of interests common to all, has made its influence felt in every department of statecraft. The universal postal union, embracing in its operations all the civilized countries of the world is an instance of the principle of international federation in practical operation. The "concert of the powers" is another of a different sort and the peace congress is still another.

If England and the United States, (and by England here we mean the vital governing force of the British empire), possess interests and ideals and purposes in common, they may secure those interests and advance those purposes without any necessity for any merging of their political existence, or any radical modification of their divergent institutions. An Anglo-Saxon parliament may never meet, either in Washington or London, but that would be a lesser possibility of good than already lies in arrangements for united action and effort.

The policy of the United States towards England is that which we ought to hold towards all nations We favor no exclusive friendship but an inclusive one for all with whom we are in common sympathy and desire It is only because we believe that the United States and Great Britain have more in common than others and because their united effort can be more beneficial to them both and to the world, that we hopefully look forward to relations of more than common intimacy and friendship.

THE VALUE OF CLIMATE.

A FEW days ago a gentleman from an eastern state who is spending the winter here, met a long-time resident of this city and said to him: 'Don't you ever have any winter here? This is the most wonderful climate I ever experienced or heard of, and it is a constant wonder to me that so little is said about it."

This is a novel view to the people of Colorado Springs, who have heard climate talked about until they are tired of the whole subject, but the incident might profitably remind us that in our climate we have one of our most valuable and permanent resources. No deep mining can ever exhaust the reservoirs of our mountain air, no prodigal use can deplete the stores of winter sunshine.

People in Colorado may grow tired of talking about climate, and shy away from articles in which the subject is mentioned, but to those who are not familiar with its pleasures and its healthfulness Colorado climate is a never-failing wonder and delight, and one of the chief charms and attractions for them in this region.

Colorado Springs cannot too often set forth her advantages in this respect. Our city was founded on climate, it was climate that gave us our start and kept us growing through the days of our youth and it is climate that remains one of the great resources and supports for our future, an assurance of our prosperity and permanency.

THE SUNDAY NEWSPAPER.

THE Sunday newspaper is a recognized American institution, and one worthy of more study than it has received.

The most desirable features of it may easily be set forth.

It should be large enough to satisfy all the demands of its readers and its patrons, but not so large as to be unsuitable for convenient handling.

It should contain all the news of the day to the minutest detail, and yet not weary its readers with a host of trivialities.

Every important item should be treated at length, but should not be so long as to tire the average reader who does not care for prosy information on great events.

Only the highest class illustrations and literary matter should be used, but the successful Sunday newspaper will always be profitable.

What the people want is the news, but nothing should be printed to offend the most particular.

Religious news and discussion should be given a large space, but not so large as to displease those who care nothing about such matters.

Football and other sports should have a prominent place but the taste of those who believe that football is demoralizing as well as dangerous, should not be offended

The editorials should be brief, concise, colloquial, snappy, deep, thorough, complete, and of a nature to command the unqualified approval of all classes of readers, without regard to creed, condition or mental equipment.

We would not have anyone conclude, however, that the good Sunday newspaper is an impossible ideal. It is like many other good things, the result of the compromise and adjustment of opposing principles and forces.

It is possible for a newspaper to be bright, clean, reliable and enterprising both on Sundays and week days, and to please all of its readers without affording ground for complaint to any of them. This is what the Gazette is doing and yesterday morning's paper was a good illustration and example of it.

ARMY RE-ORGANIZATION.

MORE soldiers and a longer term of service is the epitome of the annual report of Lieutenant General Miles, commander of the army.

Even the most inveterate foe of militarism ought to be disarmed by the array of facts and figures presented by General Miles It does not seem possible that any American should advocate the policy of leaving this country open to the attack of a foreign foe, or without the means to suppress rioting at home As for our newly acquired possessions, they will require a considerable garrison for some time to come, and we must make our army calculations accordingly. It is certainly very poor economy to send our volunteers back and forth across the Pacific ocean every few months, and it is equally lacking in good sense to expect our regulars to bear for an indefinite time the strain of tropical service A proper provision of a regular force sufficient for the duty and a term of service of reasonable length with proper provision for relief and rotation of service is the common sense arrangement.

As for our home army, we certainly ought to have enough to man our forts on a peace basis, to insure against domestic violence and the rapidly disappearing danger of Indian outbreaks, and to afford a first line of defense against foreign invasion.

General Miles believes that a force of 77,000 men is sufficient to accomplish this, and the estimate is a moderate one There is certainly no danger to the republic that any sensible person need fear from such an army, and while the cost of it is large when represented in figures, it is not large in comparison with the resources of our nation and the interests which our army is expected to defend.

SUBIG BAY NAVAL STATION.

EVEN in the improbable event that the United States should relinquish sovereignty over the Philippines, it would doubtless retain control over some tract of land for a naval station The turning over of the control of Subig bay from the war to the navy department there marks the beginning of a permanent development of our naval affairs

According to the experts in such matters, it is at Subig and not at Cavite, near Manila, that the great naval station in the Philippines should be established, and it now seems probable that Subig will be made the base of American sea power in Asia.

The advantages of such a station are numerous and evident. A ship is a part of the dry land and is not capable of maintaining an independent existence upon the sea. To the land it must return, for coal, for provisions, for men to take the place of those lost or incapacitated for duty, and, in the case of ships of war, for ammunition and in times of need for refuge from superior force The building of a naval station in the Philippines will be of the greatest advantage to the United States and will add immensely to our prestige in Asia, and contribute to our commercial success there.

GOOD ARMOR CHEAP.

THE long discussed question of armor plate has been finally settled, and an agreement made with the Carnegie and Bethlehem companies for 25,000 tons of first-class armor at a price that will range somewhere between $420 and $455 52 a ton This is said to be cheaper than armor is furnished by any company to any other government in the world.

We are glad to know that our new ships will be no longer delayed in completion on account of their armor, and equally so that their defense will be of the best quality of metal Congress has haggled over this matter in a most undignified fashion, and the delay might easily have been a serious one. At the last session, however, congress undertook to make amends for its former errors, and passed a law which gave the secretary of the navy proper latitude in bargaining with the steel companies The result of this law is shown in the arrangement which has just been completed, and while the armor is not obtained at $300 nor even at $400 a ton, which is what some of the Cheap John congressmen thought was a proper price, the government does get it as low as first-class material can be had, and cheaper, as has been said, than other governments are paying for the same material.

Pueblo county is to be congratulated on its McKinley plurality. It might have been bigger, to be sure, but it is very much better than the 2,000 for Bryan claimed by the Fusionists previous to the election

LYNCHING.

Accumulated Horrors.

(Denver Times)

Before the accumulated horrors of the Porter crime and the revenge for it, humanity stands appalled It is impossible to put into words one's horror of such a deed as that of this wretched degenerate It was worse than bestial as degenerate man is always worse than beast.

The horror for the barbarism of the revenge likewise is unspeakable Such work is always conceived and executed in madness, fury, insanity in a word In this case a most deplorable feature is added in the fact that it was done after the immediate community had made solemn pledges or the world was led so to believe that nothing of the kind would be done

Primarily, the fault lies in humanity. Such acts are not peculiar to Colorado Scarcely any state has been wholly free from the fact of lynching In only a few has fire been made the weapon of revenge

We have no royal soldiery to enforce obedience We depend on respect for the law If that is lost, all is lost

Our duty is first to make the law worthy of respect—fit the punishment always to the offense and then enforce it relentlessly, without fear or favor.

Have we done this? If not, why not?

In connection with the fiendish crime at Limon it is timely to remind legislators elect that the death penalty by law for murder in Colorado has been abolished It's about time to reinstate it —(Pueblo Post.

The sentiment in favor of the repeal of the law abolishing the death penalty for certain crimes increases as each new outrage or murder is reported Many people who favored the law when passed have since changed their opinions and considerable influence will be brought to bear on the next legislature for the re-enactment of the old law The press of the state seems to be almost unanimously in favor of a return to capital punishment —(Greeley Republican

STATE INTERESTS.

Growing Richer.

(Victor Daily Record)

Now and then we see a skeptic who looks through smoked glasses and says the Cripple Creek district is now at its high water mark and in 10 years more it will be practically worked out.

Such people generally have torpid livers and belong to the class that never succeeds in any business undertaking. They think the whole country is going to the bow-wows and this district with the rest. They have nothing but their bad digestion upon which to base such a claim, and it is only necessary to cite a few facts to prove that the contrary is true

During this week a large body of ore has been discovered on Gold hill, a mountain that has been prospected ever since this district was started as a gold mining camp, and some of the ore from this new find runs over $100,000 to the ton

Within a few days the Cripple Creek Gold Exploration Tunnel Co, whose tunnel starts into the mountain from the banks of Cripple creek stream, a mile below the county seat, has struck a 20-foot vein of gold-bearing rock in Mary McKinney ground 500 feet deep which has never been found before by any one This vein carries values of about $50 per ton, and it is a great bonanza

Very recently the Elkton mine has uncovered a large new vein which they knew not of before, and thus the value of the great mine is probably double what it was thought to be a few weeks ago

Every one of the big mines that are reaching depths of 1 000 feet or more report that the ores are growing richer and richer as depth is attained

So far as actual mining is concerned it has only just begun in the known pay district and 50 years from now will see more gold flowing from these hills than there is today, even if the district shall not be larger then than it is now.

As a matter of fact, the Cripple Creek gold mining district is merely in its infancy.

If water is the one great necessity to fertilize a country good roads must be the other. Colorado is singularly lacking in this respect The roads instead of being improved are positively neglected Where a year or two ago there were good roads in many places there are no roads at all There has been very little work done on them aside from the work of disaster accomplished by spring freshets and continually sliding bodies of earth and stone—(Salida Mail.

Quite a fad has been started in the Cripple Creek district of selling mines to English syndicates for 15 or 20 millions every few days —(Canon City per.

The price of silver went up several cents on the ounce awhile before election and it was claimed to be the result of Bryan's candidacy and the prospect that free coinage would prevail But the price has continued to advance since the election and it is the opinion of those who have studied the conditions that it will continue to do so until it is much higher than at present. When the difficulties in China are settled and that country is opened up to commerce, it will create an immense demand for silver —(Boulder News.

The Herald wants Gov. Orman to make a creditable record It will help Colorado and what helps Colorado helps all of us.—(Durango Herald.

Hon J B Orman is back from Texas creek and is the busiest man in town, trying to look after the many details of his immense contracting business and still shake hands and receive political congratulations now and then. His firm has the grade for the Texas creek railroad to Westcliff constructed to the extent of about two thirds. A thousand men are at work there and the heaviest part of the labor is done. The 'heavy" work in building a railroad however is the portion which the contractors like best as it involves most removal of earth and rock and therefore brings them most money. The firm has an equal number of men working on the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek Short line and it will be completed in about five weeks —(Pueblo Chieftain.

Aspen has had a long, hard pull of it. She has suffered as few cities have suffered from a business depression She has intrinsic value or she never would have survived There are many deserted villages in this state which were once prosperous and had a population as large as this city enjoyed in her palmiest days The town has got down to bedrock and the citizens have had to scratch gravel, but now the reaction is, we hope about to set in While the election of Bryan and the success of the Democratic ticket would have assured our future, there are other factors outside of politics which have a very important bearing on the situation If China is to pay her enormous indemnity in silver she will need great quantities of our Colorado product. Would it not be probable that our mine output of silver would be shipped to China? In such a case the price of the white metal would certainly be enhanced very considerably War costs money and while we may deprecate war, every one that is being waged directly aids us Silver is the medium used in the transactions of the world to a greater extent than gold. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good — (Aspen Tribune.

POLITICAL.

El Paso County in the Lead.

(Colorado Springs Facts)

El Paso county was true to its reputation on election day when it led the Republican forces in the state and forever drowned the calamity wails of Fusionism within its bailiwick. Four years ago it indorsed Bryanism Time demonstrated the falsity and heresy of the new creed It was the sophistry and deception that had been played upon it and it recoiled in righteous wrath and repudiated the false prophet

And to Colorado Springs special honors must be accorded, for the city inspired the war of redemption. For the intelligent and decided stand that El Paso county took in the overthrow of fanaticism that has antagonized her every industry, there must follow rich benefits and great moral rewards

It is little business, very little at that, for Republican papers to belittle Bryan and to publish scurrilous articles about him He will ever remain one of the grandest figures in the history of the United States Other men have lost the presidency as well as he Webster wanted the prize, but could not reach it, so also Henry Clay, Fremont, Blaine, John Sherman and others A more sincere and upright man a man more governed by honest convictions never ran for office than William J. Bryan' The Herald did not indorse his course but it never doubted his honesty or his sincerity He is still among the noblest, purest and best of men —(Boulder Herald.

It was the Bryan Republican vote that did it. There isn't any question about that. While some men recognize their wrongs easily, many are slow to believe themselves in error. Many Republicans thoroughly imbued with the silver spirit said, "Well, I voted for Bryan in '96 and I'll do it just once more ' While they knew the Democratic party had given the silver question the go-by, still they hoped that Bryan, if elected, would do something for their pet theory. If Hill had been the Democratic candidate for president Colorado would have gone Republican by 25 000. You can prove this assertion by looking about you In your limited acquaintance you can count a dozen or more Bryan Republicans It's that way all over the state only more so in the west and south They wanted to vote for Bryan, and the complicated ballot forced them to vote the straight Democratic ticket Bryan carried everything with him.—(Canon City Record.

The dispatches state that there are 65 members of the house and that each and every one is a candidate for the speakership This is in conformity with populistic ideas Let the scrap go on the livelier the fight the more salvation for the people, and yet, it was the people who elected them. There is among business men the hope that a dark horse will be sprung on the joint assembly when they get to voting for senator, and it is further hoped that this dark horse will be Charley Hughes —(Cripple Creek Star Governor Orman would make no mistake through the appointment of Judge Stimson to a place on the bench of the court of appeals which will be vacated at the close of the present year Judge Stimson is an able jurist and has long been identified with Colorado and her people Well versed in the law relating to mining he is peculiarly well qualified for the position for which he has been mentioned Judge Stimson has the people of not only Teller county, but of the state behind him and his appointment would be exceedingly popular —(Victor Times.

The Republican victory in El Paso county was a brilliant one and an inspiration to the state Colorado Springs which has the heaviest Republican vote is also the city which is doing more building and developing more extensive enterprises than any other in the state It is only one of the numerous instances of the fact that the more pronounced is Republican sentiment the greater is the degree of enterprise or, rather, that the temperament which is active and pushing is also the temperament which is naturally inclined toward the Republican industrial policies —(Pueblo Chieftain.

The election of a United States senator in this state at the coming legislative session will doubtless convince the people more than ever that, senators should be elected directly by the people. —(Grand Junction Sentinel.

The Republicans of Garfield county made a hard fight against great odds—and lost Our candidates were men of worth and ability, and on a square issue would have won, but our opponents held up the old corpse of free silver and actually fooled many of the voters into the belief that it was an issue Then again, the prejudice heretofore engendered toward Senator Wolcott was fanned into a flame and made to do service However we have no regrets We did our best and consider that a gain of something over 700 per cent in four years is something to be proud of. The future of the Republican party in Garfield county is bright.—(Glenwood Post.

Chautauqua Has the Endorsement of People

The announcement that Colorado prings is about to inaugurate a Chautauqua association has attracted a great al of [illegible] It is [illegible] ally agreed at this city offers the ideal location r such an institution and would have d the Texas Colorado society had the romoters of that been actuated by any ing but the spirit of greed The na onal association which has been organ ed to build near the Garden of the ods proposes to erect a great auditor m and is planning on the largest scale hat the movement meets with the earty endorsement of the leading citi ns and educators of this locality is roved by a great many letters that have en received Among them are the fol wing sent to Mayor Robinson who is hearty accord with this movement

Colorado Springs Colo November 1[illegible] 1900

ayor Robinson

Dear Sir—Most heartily do I favor the tablishment of a national Chautauqua this Pike's Peak region To provide en rtainment of an interesting and instruc ve character will assuredly be the means [illegible] and thousands of healthseekers who e also knowledge seekers will be at acted who might under other circum ances go elsewhere Sincerely yours

November 1[illegible] 1900

o Mayor J R Robinson Colorado Springs

A Chautauqua assembly located in or ar Colorado Springs would be a most tractive and helpful complement to our ready metropolitan city

I remember distinctly that when the mmittee from Texas was here a few ars ago looking for a Chautauqua site at several of the members of that com ittee seemed anxious to locate a Chau uqua here believing that no more avail ble and ideal location could be found the state of Colorado

Were such an organization located here any who now attend the Chautauqua Boulder would undoubtedly trans r their membership to this place

There is at present a most urgent de and for a permanent summer school in is vicinity Many teachers in element y and secondary schools and colleges ish to employ a part of their sum er vacation in further preparation

In the middle sections of the United ates the summer climate is usually too hot for successful school work The climate and surroundings at the foot of Pike's Peak make this a most favorable spot for such a school affording an opportunity for [illegible] and recreation at the same time

If a summer school were organized as one of the special features of a Chautauqua assembly offering the usual advantages found in our best summer schools the attendance would soon be large enough to make this department self sustaining

A large number of letters of inquiry concerning a school of this nature reach my office every year Respectfully
John Dietrich

To Mayor J R Robinson

In my opinion the establishment of such an institution as a Chautauqua would be a very good thing for the town. Not having any manufacturing institutions and not being an agricultural country a Chautauqua would attract many people here as temporary citizens As the entire middle west and the western part of the south are prosperous and this town is easily available It would be easy for them to come and this would add to their pleasure while here The money they would spend would be of general benefit to everybody in the town and a great many people would be attracted who do not now come because by carrying this on in an organized way a great many people could come who cannot as individuals

Dear Dr Robinson

The situation is certainly favorable to a successful Chautauqua Hundreds in our local population of wealth and culture will form a basis of appreciation and support while tourists will be greatly multiplied by advantages of education and reasonable boarding rates and educators will be eager to avail themselves of scenery climate and society And a successful school of this kind will be of [illegible] benefit to the city already distinguished for its educational advantages The location suggested for the encampment is one of the noblest amphitheaters in the world and under your management I am confident the business affairs of the movement will be so conducted as to make the most of all advantages Very sincerely yours
Edward Braislin

COUNT VON WALDERSEE

You Americans deserve all the success you have won in the widely different fields which you have made your n Every little while Europe is as unded at the news of some new stride u have made You ask me why I ink you are so successful Well for e thing you ave a new country, th new blood and new thought There ust be something in the very soil and mosphere which makes you strive to cceed and gives you ideas and am ions which no man has ever concei before

Just look at the number of Ameri n students in Germany To my mind e presence of these young men and omen in all the art and educational nters of Europe is a sign that you are tined to progress further and fur er You are gathering in the art and ence of the Old World and adding it the knowledge you have gained for urselves and the result can be noth else than a generation of men and men who will astonish the world by eir achievements As far as I have n it—the young American allows thing to discourage him. —(Success

The Late Lord Russell

Your energy and perseverance are st surprising I used to wonder be e I had met many of you how the tricans manage to accomplish so ny wonders Since I visited America s surprise has given away to a feel of curiosity as to what you are ely to do next. Perseverance is the ef characteristic of your energetic ople and is the main secret of your at success Your typical Yankee t easily discouraged If he fails in e effort he tries again and keeps trying until he has accomplished purpose

As an Irishman I am appreciative American genius for hustling It bably is true though that some of ur most successful men work too rd One reads frequently of men the head of your great enterprises dying at the age of fifty five or sixty It simply isn't right for any man to sacrifice his health for the sake of accumulating money which after all doesn't by any means constitute real success according to my ideas A man with high aims and great ambition to accomplish some high purpose will be wise enough not to ruin his constitution in the effort to make money for it in itself is nothing'—(Success

M Waldeck-Rousseau

As far as I have been able to observe your most famous men of today are the millionaires who have done nothing but amass great fortunes You have produced men of talent and men of genius, and they were famous in their time Today, our chief product seems to be millionaires

Now I have no right whatever to pose as a critic because I am not greatly acquainted with American life and conditions but it seems to me and I think my opinion is shared by many that you are giving too little attention to the development of the beautiful in life This is an enterprising age and America is the most progressive of nations undoubtedly but it would be sad if in your rapid movement toward commercial success you forget to cherish the gentler arts. —(November Success

Emile Zola.

In Paris I have been surprised, sometimes by the peculiar idea Americans seem to have of success and what the word means I hear them speak of Mr So and-so being eminently successful because he is worth several millions of dollars and when I mention one of your artists or literary men they astound by their woeful ignorance of these men of genius Mind you I am not saying that all the Americans I meet are of this sort but it certainly means that the majority of you consider wealth the one thing It is sad that there is not a more general appreciation of the men and women who have accomplished wonders in the fields of art science and literature Perhaps an excuse may be found in the fact that the United States is still young —(Success

Joseph Chamberlain.

'Americans are proverbially successful in the things they undertake, and no one denies that the qualities chiefly responsible for their success are self confidence and stick-to-itiveness. Americans, indeed are frequently successful where others have failed and one cannot but admire the indomitable will which makes them so Haven't you produced great authors and statesmen and artists to say nothing of inventors and scientists? You have more wealthy men perhaps than any other nation but you have also men who are famous for something else than money If I had time I could name dozens of men who have won for America the respect of the nations Your young men cannot do better than to model your success after that of your leading lights—some of your leading lights I mean' —(Success

W T Stead

You certainly go it hard over there. My friends tell me, sometimes that I am burning the candle at both ends but I tell them they should see some Americans I know Such hurry such hustle such fine disregard of the requirements of nature! No other nation but yours could stand such a life of business activity, and it is my opinion that Americans must soon learn that there are other things than work in the world How many of your people are discontented and dissatisfied! One success is not enough When one thing is accomplished there is always something else to be striven for I have never met an American who thought he had money enough, for instance.'—(November

CRAMPTON WILL GIVE A SONG RECITAL

Mr George Crampton the well known baritone of this city and Denver will give his first song recital for the season on the evening of Nov 2[illegible] at Perkins Fine Arts hall This promises to be one of the most enjoyable musical treats of the winter

Mr Crampton has sung in Colorado Springs several occasions and has always delighted his audience He has one of the richest and most powerful baritone voices ever heard here and in Denver he has scored many triumphs and is considered the leading baritone singer of the state Mr Crampton will be assisted by Mr Rubin Goldmark Mr J J Soutter and the College Glee club Mr Goldmark is too well known in this city to require further mention Mr Soutter is a violinist of exceptional ability who has been heard here very little but who holds a high position in musical circles The College Glee club will make its first appearance for the season at this recital Mr Crampton is the director of the club and the club will sing the choruses to a number of songs to which he will sing the solo parts The club will also render one or two of its own selections

The programme will be unique consisting for the most part of compositions performed for the first time in the west Among the numbers which Mr Crampton will sing will be The Soul's Expression words from Elizabeth Barrett Browning's Portuguese poems and the music by Coleridge Taylor This will be performed for the first time in America Hiawatha's Vision and Farewell by the same composer will be another song Coleridge Taylor is the famous young Anglo-African composer whose works have made an enormous success in England and the east, and everywhere the critics have hailed him as the greatest musical genius of the time His compositions have the wonderful negro rhythm combined with great beauty of expression fine melodies and harmonies based on an excellent and thorough musical foundation The Soul's Expression, was written especially for the Hereford Musical festival this year and was sung by the great contralto Clara Butt

Mr Crampton will also introduce Stanford's Cavalier Songs with the glee club as chorus and also the Cantellations declamations with musical accompaniment by Stanley Hawley He will also sing two groups of songs consisting of Mighty Lord (Christmas Oratorio) by Bach two numbers from Dvorak's Biblical songs Traume (a study from Tristane and Isolde) by Wagner Wie Bist Du Meine Konigen by Brahms Archibald Douglass by Loewe and the others of Five Old Melodies Folk songs

The recital will be given under the auspices of the Colorado College Conservatory of Music

MIDLAND BAND HAS AN ORCHESTRA FEATURE

The Midland band officers are pleased to state the outlook is very favorable to the band remaining a permanent feature of Colorado Springs. A number of business men have signified their intention to [illegible] of the band at work

At an early date a committee of the band will wait on the business firms to learn where and [illegible] band men can get employment Mr Irvine is not only a band director but is also one of the best orchestral conductors in the west During his residence of 17 years at Omaha he was a very prominent figure in musical circles From 1883 to 1892 he directed the famous Musical Union orchestra and military band of 75 members at Omaha This organization was heard at the opera houses expositions and all social events Mr Irvine was called in 1892 to Lincoln Neb to organize and conduct the Nebraska State band which gained an enviable reputation not only in the west but also in many eastern states In 1896 Mr Irvine was given charge of the City Park concerts at Denver and later was made bandmaster of the First Colorado National Guard and Knights of Pythias bands of that city Mr Irvine's U S A Hot Time band is known throughout the land

In order to further the Midland band interests Director Irvine has organized an orchestra from among its members and will furnish any number desired for all occasions requiring this style of music By engaging the new orchestra lovers of good music will greatly aid the Colorado Midland band

Senator Chandler's Little Mistake

Senator Chandler of the New Hampshire is known as one of the most exact and painstaking of men He rarely makes mistakes and has little patience to spare for those of others But the wily and careful senator was recently guilty of a blunder which cost him much trouble to rectify It was nothing more nor less than exchanging envelopes upon two letters written about the same matter The story as related by his very dear friends, runneth thus

Once upon a time Chandler received an invitation from Senator Frye to go up to one of the Maine lakes and enjoy a spell of hunting and fishing Politics would, of course come up during the quiet evenings. Senator Chandler had other plans and thereupon he indited two letters one to his wife which ran to this effect

My Dear Lucy —I have received an invitation from Frye to go up with him into Maine for a hunting and fishing trip but I shall not accept Frye is a temperance crank and never has anything for himself or friends to drink and therefore I have got out of the thing as diplomatically as I can There is not much enjoyment under the circumstances The letter then ran on to detail other domestic confidences

The letter received by Mrs Chandler ran tersely along these lines

My Dear Frye —I received your invitation and am very sorry that I cannot accept You know Mrs. Chandler is very disagreeable about such things and so I must decline Some other time when I can get up a good story to justify the fun

The first intimation which Senator Chandler had of his error was an indignant missive from the wife of his bosom berating him for his ungallant conduct in holding her up to his friends as a disagreeable woman

Senator Frye fortunately for Chandler held his peace as he did not know whether or not the epistle was loaded and fancied that the contretemps might be merely one of Chandler's little jokes which would have an ending disastrous to the sender The truth of the matter is that Senator Chandler is just as much a teetotaler as his confrere from Maine but the other senators who have heard of the affair are chaffing him unmercifully —(November Success

CONVICTS SURROUNDED

Leavenworth Kan Nov 18—The escaped convicts Cravens and Estell were today surrounded in the hills a mile from Brighton having escaped from the barn burned by the posse The place is rough and well adapted to screen the convicts and as they are well armed the posse will probably starve them out and not try to force a surrender The officers are sure that one of the men is badly wounded as a result of the first day's fusilade

MARKET LETTERS.

GARDNER & CO.'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Nov 17

The stock market was a continuation of good business all through the week. There even seemed a widespread spirit of apology among the brokers who had selling orders the general reason for selling being peculiar circumstances widow lady, many destitute orphans etc all demanding immediate cash

The great bulk of the trading was in the latest attractions the new babies of the exchange whose proud and happy parents bid them up far above their merits While this class of securities went kiting among the clouds the old reliable stocks, whose shares are scattered far and wide over the land only fractionally advanced There was no one financially interested enough to boost them This is simply an object lesson that enough inside financial muscle can put up any stock

The general effect of all the after election boom and crash was a large increase in the number of shares traded in Local mining operators don t seem to be sitting on their money these days although a generous part of the week s business seemed to be matched orders to keep up the hurrah As yet the eastern public are not [illegible] in our market We much doubt if the little local blowing of trumpets and beating drums will attract them The New York stock market is too rampant and hilariously full of the champagne of success to leave as much as a thought for prohibition Colorado Springs

We must try and bear our own burdens A good steady market in the long run is worth a dozen booms with the wrecks they leave behind It certainly is poor policy to buy on a boom and a stock that has doubled or trebled in value in a few weeks is generally dangerous except for those on the inside who know exactly what they are doing Yet the public is never so happy as when buying stocks on top and at the highest price

In speculating patience to wait for the opportunity is almost as necessary as the cash in hand It s easy to speculate when you have money It s hard if you have the money to wait for the opportunity In general terms we advise selling on the present bulge and then having patience enough to wait for the holiday depression to buy in again

The high priced stocks look high enough Isabella we know actually nothing about Our guess was that it was a sale at $1 30 We guess now it s a buy under or near 70 We have all seen stocks decline and then advance again There is more profit buying after a decline than getting excited and buying on top At any rate that has been the universal experience Independence Cons sold at 61 and dropped to 48 the theory being that the present developments were not finding the ore that was expected The finding or not finding the ore is a mining chance that must always be accepted by those who invest in mining securities

If you desire to invest in the market we advise buying only those shares that have not as yet advanced If the market is about to go higher every stock will share in the general prosperity If we are to see a decline those stocks that have not as yet advanced have the least cause for a drop If you have any stocks that show a nice profit we advise selling and waiting for an opportunity to buy back on the usual holiday depression Outside of the stocks that have been advanced by steady inside buying the market closed barely steady —

EDSALL, KEY & CO.'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Nov 17 1900

Active trading and prices firm with an upward tendency has been the characteristic of the week. In fact ever since election day the market has continued to improve and prospects are fair for a realization of a very strong market throughout the winter Nearly the entire list has been actively dealt in A general good feeling pervades the situation and buying orders are being received by every mail

ACACIA—Every shaft on this property is now raising ore and it looks as though it was going to develop into one of the biggest mines of the district The Wrockloff lease is shipping regularly to the smelters, and the company are shipping a four ounce grade from a two foot vein on what was formerly the Brady lease The stock is selling around 42 cents to 43 cents and we consider it a good buy at anything like these figures On Monday the regular quarterly dividend of 1 cent per share will be declared The treasury is being continually augmented by the proceeds of the sale of ore on company account and the royalties from the several leases This stock is now paying about 10 per cent per annum on the investment

Jolly Jane This company owns the Tecumseh and Grace Arthur lodes A contract has been let on the former claim on company account to sink the shaft to 500 feet They own a fine plant of machinery which will be used by the contractors in pushing the work On the Grace Arthur a lessee is engaged in working in a shaft which is now 150 feet deep Good assays are being received but as yet ore in shipping quantities has not been found The treasury consists of 300 000 shares of stock and $5 000 in cash with no debts

Cadillac—The Electric claim on Gold hill is being worked by lessees who are sinking a shaft and have attained a depth of 1 5 feet. They have one year before the expiration of their lease The property is looking well but shipping ore has not yet been opened up The company is out of debt and has a small amount of cash and 100 000 shares of stock in its treasury

Gold Bond—This stock has been attracting considerable attention during the week and from the latest information we consider it a good buy They have opened up a body of ore of very high grade which comes from a junction of the Pointer and the Old Sweet veins The property is located on the southwest slope of Gold hill and from present appearance is going to make a regular shipper

Nugget—This company has shipped 150 tons of ore in the past two weeks which will average about three ounces per ton The property never looked better and work is being actively pushed both on company account and by the Smith Leasing company We consider this stock a good buy

BONBRIGHT & CO.'S MARKET LETTER

16th November 1900

With strikes many of them of prime importance crowding on each other s heels and with an active and strong market the week has been an exceedingly interesting one Its events have been of a character to strengthen confidence in the future of the Cripple Creek district which seems to be preparing to take another great forward step Interest during the past week has been principally directed to the western section and in particular to portions of Beacon and Gold hills The wonderful development of Beacon hill continues at an increasing pace and the belief is gaining ground that this locality is destined soon to rank with the greatest of the district

Business continues in large volume and prices have ruled steady to strong throughout the week. Gold Dollar was the leader advancing from 20½ to 27 with sales for the week of 480 000 shares Zoe was also heavily traded and made a handsome advance Good gains were also made by Pointer Prince Albert and Flower of the West The general list closed lower than a week ago, though losses were mainly fractional The principal losses were sustained by Elkton, 137½ to 130½ Isabella [illegible] to 64½ closing at 70¼ and Work 27 to 25¾ Slight gains were made by Dante Findley Lincoln Alamo and [illegible] Sedan continues to advance with large sales

REED & HAMLIN'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Col Nov 14—1900 —

The week just ended has been one of marked activity and advancing prices All along the list there has been active trading and a general advance The improved condition of the mining-share market is due chiefly to the restored confidence following the result of the election and this is not only true in our own mining share market but also with the eastern markets which have been [illegible] Many investors have been waiting for a settled condition before they make investments and as a result many orders have been sent in from all over the world and in consequence stimulated the trading

Many of the prospective mines which have been undergoing active development during the past week have had strikes and improved showings We believe that at the present prices there are many stocks in which the investor may place his money and take [illegible] some returns and in this week s letter we mention a few of the shares that we believe worthy of careful consideration

Elkton—Slowly but surely these shares are approaching the $2 mark and when that is reached the demand for the shares will be greater than ever This company s property is more than realizing the highest expectations maintained for it some time ago and the shares offer all the features of a substantial investment

CROSBY-EHRICH'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Nov 16 1900

Advancing prices great activity and unusual strength are the characteristics of the local mining share market An average of nearly a million and a half shares a day is the record being made by the exchange and rapid fluctuations prevail. Beacon hill stocks furnish a large part of the trading and the developments in that section of the camp are very gratifying to those who have persistently favored Beacon hill For a long time it was the general belief that Beacon hill was too pockety and uncertain to be trusted but as depth is gained in the Beacon hill mines the ore bodies are becoming larger and richer with every indication of permanency El Paso Kimberly Gold Dollar Cripple Creek Columbia, Little Bessie Beacon Hill Ajax Prince Albert Zoe and C K and N have all shared in the activity and strength that now prevails The finding of the ore in the lower workings of the Gold Dollar mine advanced the price of that stock to 25 where it holds strong Kimberly sold up to 15 on its merits assisted somewhat by rumors of a coming sale of the control Zoe promises a Christmas dividend and the stock advanced to 15 with very little reaction Beacon Hill Ajax sold up to 5⅝ on the buying of control by prominent mining men and the possibility of that company s ground containing the extension of known rich veins Prince Albert advanced to 7¼ on reports that the Gold Dollar vein comes into that company s ground from Prince Albert territory Cripple Creek Columbia Little Bessie and C K and N have all been strong and in good demand and Beacon hill may be said to be the leader at the present time

$129 ORE

The above is the last returns of shipment of a mine the stock of which will be worth par within a year Has 59 claims three producing and shipping gold mines The company has excellent management It is the best and biggest mining proposition on the market A limited amount of treasury stock at 1? cents Write for prospectus Herbert A Riedel & C Exchange Bank block Colorado Springs

Threadbare Consuls

Of all the consular services in the world the American is the poorest paid [illegible] writes Robert Mackey in Success for November It is high time for this important branch of our government service to be put on a scale that will make it commensurate with our dignity It should be just as much an integral part of the nation as is the supreme court. It should be taken out of politics for all time It is indeed a sad state of affairs when travelling Americans call at a consulate of their government to find it in charge of a British officer or a native who is seldom at his post because Uncle Sam pays him so little that he must seek other work to keep body and soul together

Some of our consuls—in fact many—show a lack of proper diplomatic training a necessary factor in any consular officer One can hardly blame them as it is hard for a man to accustom himself to the methods of diplomatic dignity when he has not the essentials

One usually finds the consular officers of the other nations men of special fitness and they are oftentimes representatives of the best society and of considerable wealth Every nation except ours allows its representative to give special functions in honor of state occasions but if our representative hoists the flag on the Fourth of July and invites those who respect it to join him in a feast he must pay for the refreshments out of his own purse The American consul is a guest at every other consular function and often the guest of honor Seldom is he able to return the compliment It is hard to ask a man to exhibit the glory of his country s traditions and to live in style at the same time on the salary of a good bookkeeper

It is time that congress laid aside bygone notions of political economy and put the consular service on a level with the army or navy where it belongs What is needed is a college or an academy where young men picked from the best walks of life can be educated for the service just as men are educated for the army or navy Promotion should be the reward of length of service and merit so that the man who began in his youth as the United States commissioner at the Barbadoes possibly might die as the American ambassador at the court of St James.

At one port I once visited the American consul received $1 500 per year, the British consul $10 000 the German consul $8 500 the Chinese consul $8 900 the Portuguese consul $5 000 and the commissioner of the Orange Free State $3 000 Is it any wonder people abroad laugh at our consular service

Achilles was invulnerable in every part of the body save his heel The myth runs that he was rendered invulnerable by being dipped in the river Styx in infancy, the heel by which he was held being the only part not submerged and therefore retaining its mortal weakness Everyone has some weak spot in his physical organism and that weak spot is the invariable attacking point of disease No man is stronger than that weakest spot in him We see great robust looking men go down like ninepins at a touch of disease and wonder at it. It is simply the wound in the weak spot the vulnerable heel of Achilles.

It is the office of Dr Pierce s Golden Medical Discovery to build up the weak places to strengthen the weak organs of the body It does this on Nature s own plan of nourishment Proper food properly assimilated makes a weak man strong But the man is only an aggregation of parts so that the strong man [illegible] all parts, heart lungs, liver etc. Golden Medical Discovery puts into Nature s hands the material by which the stomach is strengthened the blood purified, the nerves nourished the lungs vitalized It makes the weak strong and the sick well It contains no alcohol or other intoxicant

Mr R J McKnight of Cades, Williamsburg Co S C writes I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years so bad at times I could not leave my bed I was badly crippled Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good The pains in my back hips and legs (and at times in my head) would nearly kill me My appetite was very bad I took five bottles of the Golden Medical Discovery and four vials of Pellets, and to-day my health is good.

HOW BRYANT WAS MARRIED

And How Touchingly He Revered His Wife s Memory

In the yard next northward from William Cullen Bryant s office stood an ample old fashioned two storied house with square chimneys along roofs and [illegible] boarded sides which was the residence of Alla[illegible] Henderson and the sojourn of his wife s sister the lovely and amiable Fanny Fairchild two whom the enamored poet lawyer addressed the lines Oh Fairest of the Rural Maids In this house he wooed and won her here they united in that impressive vow and simplicity of betrothal which was found among Bryant s treasured private papers after his death and here, in the south east corner room occurred the event which he thus whimsically narrated in a letter to his mother We went in and took our seats the little elderly gentleman with the hooked nose prayed and we all stood up When he had finished most of us sat down The gentleman with the hooked nose muttered certain cabalistic expressions which I was too frightened to remember but at that I was married to a young lady of the name of Frances Fairchild whom I perceived standing by my side His son in law records that fifty five years afterwards, when the poet s wife had been dead for ten years he revisited this place with his daughter and after walking over [illegible] exclaimed as his eyes filled with tears There is not a spire of grass her foot has not touched A handsome modern inn now covers the former site of the old dwelling which is itself preserved at the back of the hotel Here we may still see the apartment now a sleeping room in which Bryant was married and easy that the old house lost its great chimneys in its removal and that its rooms have been refitted it is not materially changed since the poet frequented it almost eighty years ago —(Theodore F Wolfe in November New Lippincott

To Mining Companies

The overissues of mining stock are often due as much to careless bookkeeping as to fraudulent intent. We call the attention of companies to the fact that we have a special department for the transfer of mining stocks and that our facilities are unexcelled for the transaction of this feature of the mining stock bu[illegible] This department is in charge of experienced and capable bookkeepers and [illegible] our greatest care and attention. For a comparatively we offer companies a transfer office with us, and guarantee correctness, promptness and the utmost care in the transfer of stock. We shall be glad to have companies communicate with us on this subject, and we feel sure that arrangements can be made that will be entirely satisfactory and that will offer companies absolute security

As I predicted some months ago, Zoe has developed into a steady shipping mine and is rapidly improving.

ZOE will pay its stockholders its first dividend on Christmas day. The stock should rapidly more than double and is a splendid purchase.

LUCRATIVE, while not a Cripple Creek property, is developing into one of the big mines of the state. We are pushing work with a large force of men and are getting the mine in shape for a large daily production. At the price Lucrative is one of the most attractive stocks on the market and is certain to advance.

STATE MINING NEWS.

GUNNISON COUNTY.

The Taylor Park Mining company, in this county, built a ditch 16 miles long, and to protect its rights to the ground located a placer cl[illegible] 16 miles long and 52 feet wide, co[illegible]ing nearly 102 acres. A part of [illegible] placer claim crossed surveyed legal subdivisions, and in defiance of the statute that placers must conform to legal subdivisions only the small strip above mentioned was taken. The secretary of the interior, in approving the land office decision, says: "It is clear that congress never contemplated the location and patenting of any such placer claim as the one involved in this case. A placer claim 16 miles long and 51 feet wide is beyond all bounds of reason, and the entry, therefore, cannot be sustained."—(Silver Lance.

LEADVILLE.

An assay taken from the dolomite in the bottom of the Canterbury shaft gave returns of five one-hundredths in gold and eight-tenths of an ounce in silver to the ton. This looks good for a prospect and shows that ore must be in close proximity. With the amount of gold shown, it would take but a few ounces in silver to make the dolomite a shipable ore. At the present, seams and bands of flint and hard limestone are coming in through the dolomite, which lends additional evidence that ore will soon be uncovered. The opening of the ore shoot in this property will be one of the greatest discoveries of the year, and will ultimately result in more benefit to the great carbonate camp than any other find made for years on account of the vast amount of tributary territory which will be proven up by the developments. The word has been passed along to watch Canterbury for the next few weeks for some phenomenal advances.

It is understood that the diamond drill will be brought into use to prospect the territory of the Revenue Leasing company, operating upon the ground of the Royalty company. In addition to its leases, the Revenue company owns some adjacent acreage which is considered favorably located for catching some developed ore shoots.

Ore bins have been constructed at the Seeley shaft and some good-looking iron is being hoisted, the bins being now nearly full. The work in this property is showing up very encouragingly and the discovery of an ore shoot of importance is looked upon as being a matter of time only. There appears no good reason why some large ore shoots should not be discovered in Poverty Flats, and the work now going on in the Seeley shaft and the Delante No 2 will doubtless prove affirmatively the value of this section.

Developments in the California Gulch shaft continue to show encouraging indications for opening into an ore shoot. In the north drift the formation appears to be raising slightly and a body of ore may be found at most any shot. The upraise from this drift and the east crosscut both look well. The west drift is very hard and it looks as if the ore might make into a body very soon.—(Leadville Miner.

CHAFFEE COUNTY.

Dispatches to the Denver papers from Buena Vista report the outlook for the winter most encouraging and operations of some kind going steadily forward on all the mines in the vicinity. The zinc ores, it is hoped, may soon be treated on the grounds; the management of the smelter has signified an intention of putting in zinc furnaces. There is also talk of a concentrator at St. Elmo. Heretofore the mines have been handicapped by the refractory nature of the ores which could not be treated by the cheaper methods and the profits were destroyed by the heavy fines to smelters. It has been discovered that by concentration and the diversion of ores into two products, one of gold, silver and lead values and the other of zinc the cost is made sufficiently low to make satisfactory treatment possible.

The biggest enterprise which is about to be taken up is the Mary Murphy tunnel. This is intended to cut the veins of the Mary Murphy, Lady Murphy and Tim Murphy mines and will extend 5000 feet into the mountain side. It is being built by the Mary Murphy company but will probably be used to develop all the mines on the mountain. A new compressor has been ordered for the Mary Murphy and when all the new machinery is in place the working force will number about eighty men.

On the Lone Star a double compartment shaft, a shaft house 25x50 feet and a new boarding house are among the improvements spoken of. A force of men are now employed getting out new timbers.

The Mary mining company is taking out zinc ore running in value from 8 to 28 per cent. and the concentrating will probably be done at Boulder.

The Ledshaw company is driving a tunnel on Mount Princeton to cut a rich copper vein. It will reach into the mountain side about 1500 feet.

A dispatch to the Republican says Manager Morely of the Buena Vista smelting and refining company is now in the east for the purpose of conferring with the stockholders of the company regarding the addition of two or three more stacks to the smelter. This will very likely be done by the first of the year and then it is hoped the Rio Grande will build side tracks to obviate the necessity of hauling by wagon.

There is big work under way throughout the entire district although ore shipments are delayed somewhat by a lack of cars. The railroad is doing such a big coal business that they have no cars to spare for the ore traffic and many carloads are being piled up on the dumps.—(Salida Mail.

CAMP BIRD SUIT.

Thomas F. Walsh is prepared to fight the ejectment suits for $100,000 filed against him in the United States court a week ago by the Cosmopolitan Mining company, through its attorneys, Bliss & Perry.

A telegram received from Mr. Walsh today by Clark [illegible] directs that attorney to look out for the disputed interests of the mine owner. The claims of the Cosmopolitan company are contained in a tract of 60 acres and are of the Camp Bird group.

They include the Hidden Treasure lode and mill site, Yellow [illegible] lode and mill site, Crusader lode, Talisman lode, Normal lode and mill site, Gertrude lode and mill site.

The claims are not only extensive, but valuable, and some of them are considered among the finest in the state.

Mr. Walsh, it is said, bases his title to the claims in question on sheriff's deeds. The Cosmopolitan Mining company, it is said, claims a simple ownership. The question of proper title will be settled by the United States court.

Mr. Bliss, of the law firm representing the Cosmopolitan Mining company, expresses confidence in a victory for his clients. He says he believes that the claims of the company are stronger than those of Mr. Walsh.

Beyond the filing of petitions [illegible] has been done as yet by either party to the ejectment proceedings. When the case does come up for trial it will be particularly interesting and a long bitter fight is anticipated, as several fortunes are involved.

Bliss & Perry will plead the case of the Cosmopolitan Mining company on the ground that the sheriff's deeds on which Mr. Walsh bases his claims to the property in dispute are worthless. In fact, they will endeavor to prove that the title of Mr. Walsh is no better than no title at all.

Mr. Walsh has been in Europe, but has now returned to America and is in Washington. As soon as he comes back to Colorado the papers will be served on him and ejectment proceedings be begun.—(Denver Post.

FREMONT COUNTY.

The Lucky Day Mining company, whose properties are located only a short distance from Canon City, feel that they have a pay proposition on their hands. They now have nine claims upon all of which more or less work has been done. The Bonanza has probably been worked more extensively than any other. The frequent tests of ore in mill run and assay lots, have shown increasing values with every foot of depth gained.

A few days ago a test was made on a lot of ore in order to arrive at the smelter value of the ore and the following figures speak for themselves: Silver, 15 cents; gold, $[illegible]; copper, $63; total, $[illegible] per ton. There is a large amount of this class of ore on the dump and plenty more to be taken out.

This enterprising company has a large eastern correspondence from people who are interesting themselves in the company's properties.—(Canon City Record.

Yesterday afternoon the directors of the Copper King Mining company closed a deal with the Sunflower company of Pittsburg, Kan. This company has unlimited capital back of it. The lease runs for th[illegible] years on a 15 per cent. royalty. Work will be done on the west end of the Mike Sutton claim. Machinery will be placed on the mine at once and work started without unnecessary delay. The contract calls for [illegible] shifts each month.—(Canon City Record.

Yesterday in the Local Pulpits.

"BEWARE OF THE LEAVEN OF THE PHARISEES"

At St Stephen's church Rev A N Taft preached. He said:

The circumstances were these: The Pharisees had been asking Jesus for some sign to prove that He was a supernatural being. He asserted that righteousness of character was essentially supernatural and therefore in that lay the surer sign of his relations to God. This sign the Pharisees rejected.

Jesus left them and took a boat for the other side of the lake. On His way over He reviewed the whole discussion and put his finger on the root of the matter by saying the difficulty lay in the doctrine of the Pharisees, their doctrine, that is the system of thought on which they based their idea of God and His relation to men.

"Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees." He then [illegible] and they reasoned: "It is because we have no bread. The Pharisees are becoming hostile to our Master. He fears some plot. The Pharisees will sell us leaven that is poisoned and we will all be murdered. How careless of us to have forgotten the bread."

Thus they mistook His meaning. And how is it with us? Are we much better? Do we always sound the depths of His meaning?

The leaven of the Pharisees, that was their doctrine, their system of thought. But we say that the outward effects of their system is what makes up Pharisaism. We label certain products of their theology as bad and are content to avoid those while we leave untouched the real root of the evil. The proud inscription at Rome "The Lion of the Tribe of Judah has Conquered" is not always as true in spirit as it looks outwardly. Humanity has always found it easier to change its clothes than its spirit. What we often see about us is not Christianity but the old spirit of Judaism under the guise of a Christian.

Pharisaism is a system of thought. Its keynote is Deism, the separation of God from the world. All the evils of their religious life, legalism, spiritual pride, interest in the letter rather than the spirit, can be traced back to this one fundamental thought.

The real evil of their doctrine is shown most clearly in their call for a sign. If Christ was a supernatural being He must show it by some supernatural sign, they said. How could he be "The Bread from heaven" and "The Son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know," at the same time? Their theology forbade it. Jesus said their theology was wrong. [illegible] consciousness as the evidence of His supernatural character. His divinity ran along the lines of His perfect goodness. The sum of His nature is that divinity and humanity are not mutually exclusive.

Have we freed ourselves from all traces of the leaven of the Pharisees? No, as long as we think a miracle proves Christ's divinity more truly than His goodness; not while we think the [illegible] to call down fire from heaven is a greater evidence than His last prayer "Father forgive them." His true [illegible] His [illegible] character.

Here we touch on the central doctrine of Christianity—The Incarnation—the union of the divine and the human. Not mutually exclusive, consequently only to be united by some stupendous miracle, but the normal completion of one in the other.

We have not rid ourselves entirely of the last tainting influence of Pharisaism until we accept the Christian teaching that we are not creatures but children.

In that thought we pass over from the theology that was hostile to Jesus and take our stand by His side as sons of one God, the Father both of heaven and earth.

DR. CALVIN SPOKE OF THE LIMON BARBARITY

No [illegible] in Colorado Springs than the First Christian church. Its doors are open every day in the week and there is some kind of service almost every evening as well as several day services during the week. F N Calvin, their new pastor, has been here seven months and during that time he has received into the church 73 new members. He has thoroughly systematized every department of his work so that the influence of the church is felt to the remotest borders of the congregation.

He says he is too busy to give a report of his sermons every week but he and his people always have a cordial welcome for any friends who may desire to drop in at any time to see what they are doing.

In his discourse yesterday morning on the subject "The Heart the Fountain of Life" [illegible] the pastor referred to the recent occurrences at Limon in the following language:

"Analyze the [illegible]. The negro was moved by passion and fear. The mob was moved by passion [illegible] fear. The negro's passion took the form of lust, the mob's passion took the form of revenge. The negro [illegible] the negro gratified [illegible] the passion that moved [illegible] mob gratified the [illegible] that moved them. The negro committed [illegible] the mob [illegible] [illegible] of the mob has in it the primary elements of anarchy that will yet soon be blotted out."

There were 283 present at Sunday school yesterday morning. The school is to have its rally day next Sunday to which the public is invited.

NEW PASTOR HAD LARGE CONGREGATIONS

Rev C B Wilcox D D, the new pastor of the First Methodist church, occupied his pulpit in this city for the first time yesterday. He was greeted by two of the largest congregations which have assembled in that church for probably two years. In the morning the body of the church, the annex and the gallery were filled and in the evening every seat in the body of the church was occupied. Dr Wilcox [illegible] sermons. His morning theme was "Prayer" and in the evening his subject was "Moral Heroism." He was present at the class meetings and at the Sunday school session and made short addresses. Tonight in the parlors of the Alamo hotel the new pastor will be tendered a reception to which all the members of the church and congregation and all friends of the church are invited.

Dr Wilcox's evening sermon was based on the text: 1 Cor xvi 13 "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

He spoke in part as follows:

"This heroic bugle blast came out of the heart of Paul. It calls to watchfulness, firmness, steadfastness in the faith, to courage and stability. It calls to an exhibition of manliness, manliness in spirit and manliness in action. This brief, concise, vivid exhortation carries a weight of meaning it would not bear but for the figure that stands behind it, the soul in which it had its origin. It is indeed colored, vitalized in the life currents of him who gave it utterance. It is full of the moral fiber of the most colossal figure of the apostolic period. Not colossal in physical proportions, for according to tradition the early artists represent Paul as diminutive in stature, slender in person, delicate in health and distinctively Jewish in form and feature. A bald head, a long yellow beard, an aquiline nose, keen gray eyes looking out from under united and shaggy eyebrows, [illegible] and a pale cast of countenance which revealed in light and shade the moods of the great soul within. Not colossal in physical proportions but colossal in intellect and influence. Of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews, as touching the law a Pharisee, a master of Greek and Latin languages and literature, thoroughly acquainted with Jewish ecclesiastical and civil law, a strong and logical [illegible], an apologist, a peer of any man of his age or any subsequent age. The brief utterance I have read as a text brings this great character before us. Now let down in a basket over the walls of ancient Damascus because 40 men have entered into a solemn compact that they will neither eat nor drink until they have slain Paul. Now with back corrugated and bleeding in contact with the cold damp floor of the Philippian jail and yet singing until the listening prisoners wonder. Now left by his enemies under a great heap of stones at Lystra in the firm belief that he is dead, but recovering consciousness he rises to his feet, wipes the blood from his wounds and pursues his ministry of love and service. Three times stoned, five times he received 40 stripes save one, in perils on the sea, in perils on the land, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils among false brethren, in cold and nakedness, yet exclaiming: 'None of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I may finish my course with joy, and ministry received of the Lord Jesus.'"

Taking Paul as a moral example of moral heroism the following points were emphasized and elaborated: The moral hero is a man of inflexible principle, a man of conscience, a man of self culture and discipline, a man thoroughly religious. These men are society's uncrowned kings, her untitled dukes and lords. They are her heroes and God's true nobility.

OLD AND NEW CENTURY SERMONS

At the United Presbyterian church last evening the pastor Rev Pressly Thompson preached the first in a series of "Old and New Century Sermons." His subject was "The Advance of the Church in a Century." The pastor spoke as follows:

"It is well for us to remember that a hundred years is a very small portion of God's eternity. We must do what we intend to do in the short period of a lifetime but the Lord works through ages. Sometimes we get impatient with the progress of the kingdom and even fall into pessimism and think the world is growing worse. We repeat the sin of Elijah who [illegible] to think he was the only [illegible] worshiper in all the land when [illegible] the Lord had numbered more than 7000. So [illegible] we do well and need to look back [illegible] this closing century [illegible] what God has wrought [illegible] care.

One hundred years ago [illegible] was rampant all over the [illegible]

[illegible] I am ashamed of the age I live in.'

The church has consequently made progress in the numbers that belong to it proportionately to the population. In the year 1800 the population of this country claiming adherence to any church, either Protestant or Catholic, was 4 per cent of the total. Now less than 10 per cent are willing to be set down without any church adherence or preference.

In 1800 the Protestant membership in the United States was seven out of each 100 of the population; the proportion stands now 23 out of each 100. This would indicate for the century an immense gain in church membership. And taking the larger view of the world the gain has been mightily significant. The number of those who adhered to some form of the Christian church 100 years ago was approximately 200,000,000 and now has reached the enormous sum of nearly 500,000,000. So it may be safely said that as regards numbers the church was never stronger than she is today.

[illegible] the working force and efficiency of the church. There was but little systematic effort in 1800 to reach those outside the membership. Some few local missionaries did some work but the church as a whole did practically nothing except maintain its regular ordinances. There were no Sabbath schools in 1800. This mighty agency of God was first introduced into this country in 1810 in Beverly, Mass. The American Board for Foreign Mission work was organized in the same year. The Y M C A together with all young people's societies are outgrowths of the effort of this present century. Practically all mission work among the heathen people is the result of 19th century Christianity.

The church has made great gain too in the influence she exerts on all [illegible]lization. [illegible] feels the touch of Christianity more than ever before. And all this gain has been made in face of new and strange conditions. Science and invention have so changed the methods of living that the church's problem has been doubly difficult. Nevertheless the church stands proportionately far ahead of her position 100 years ago.

Something over 125 years ago Voltaire made his famous prophecy that "Before the beginning of the 19th century Christianity will have disappeared from the face of the earth." He made this prophecy in his confidence in the skepticism of his time. Yet not only has his vision of the future failed, but at the end of that 19th century the world is astonished at the tremendous gains Christianity has been quietly but surely making.

So Christian people may look hopefully into the days to come. The rainbow of promise still leads us on. Trusting in God who works through the ages we shall win victory after victory into all the centuries before us. The kingdom of heaven is like the leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened."

DR. BOYLE DISCUSSED QUESTION OF CREEDS

A very large and deeply interested congregation listened to Dr Boyle's sermon on creeds last evening. The number of men present was notably large. The sermon was a carefully prepared argument for a definite and simple form of faith with essentials emphasized and speculations eliminated.

Raff's song "Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing" was impressively sung by Miss Cordell.

The subject announced for next Sabbath evening is "The New Century Teacher or Helping to Create Destinies." Educators and parents are specially invited.

The following are paragraphs from the sermon:

Analysis is the great characteristic of the age. Some things are broken up and some things are shaken down but some things remain after the analyst and the critic have done their work, because some things are as lasting as the Eternal truth stands and duty stands and love stands.

The realm of science has perhaps been the battlefield but the shock of investigation's keen advance has been felt everywhere. The realm of religious thought has been affected by it. New ground has been taken, new problems have arisen, new questions have been asked.

I hold unhesitatingly to the necessity of a definite creed. It is absurd to talk as if there could be a lasting religion of any kind without the fact of fundamental principles lying back of its profession and action. The man who is unable to discover an articulated expression of truth in the teachings of the Bible does not know it. What a system of astronomy is to the scientist a plan of doctrine is to Christian life—a ground or procedure for Christian activity and a well established basis for Christian hope.

Opposition to stated forms of belief has for the most part had its ground in a misconception of their real use. No one of good sense speaks of the apostles' creed as a Moslem speaks of his Koran, as a divine production. As an article of faith it is clearly human in its authorship and yet it has been an anchor on board the ship of the church through the angriest seas of 20 centuries, with the proof of its validity in its use.

No one who has not confused saving faith with dogma, which at the best is a mere formula of faith, will speak of the Westminster standards as complete and inerrant, and yet he has not listened to the verdict of history who does not know that the liberty and the institutions as well as the conscience and culture of both Old World and New World are the fruit of the school in which the sovereignty of God stood out like a white throne of honor over the councils of the state and over the hallowed shrine of the family and over the sacred sanctions of the individual soul.

Religion is as much an exact science as it is a consistent practice. Intuition grasps truth as a concrete whole. Reflection analyzes it and seeks to show by a grouping of its component parts the inner consistency that binds them into a whole.

The right of the exercise of reason is a God given right but in the realm of religion the complement of religion is faith. Where unaided reason staggers on the border of the unseen and unexplained, faith as the sense of the unseen is the assurance of things hoped for. Great ideas have everywhere been born of the sacrificed union of reason and belief. I cannot fathom the doctrine of the sovereignty of God but three things I do know—He is great, He is righteous, He is pitiful. I cannot touch the secret spring of a changed will in man but I have seen hundreds of wills poured into the gracious insistence of the divine will and bringing forth the confession God is great, God is righteous, God is pitiful to me. No analysis of critical reason can disturb that fact, no artifice of logic can overthrow it.

Theological literature will always have its philosophy—abstruse, difficult to be understood, metaphysical. This is well. In philosophy there is dignity, but side by side with this we need a system of doctrine so simple in its definition of essential beliefs and so free from the color of speculative thought as to be for a child or a sage what harbor lights are to a seaman—guides to a safe destination.

Doctrines are good, embodied doctrines are better, but doctrines sealed up in books like specimens in a museum cabinet, splendidly classified but dead, are a detriment to a religion whose founder laid down His life to give life.

No orthodoxy of creed can make atonement for heterodoxy of life, but forms and ceremonies are but the vestments of truth. They may pass away but that which they hold as a lamp holds the flame can never pass away. Almost any kind of creed will do for well days and prosperous days. It takes a very definite kind of creed for sick days and days of disaster and dying days.

Whatever the doctrine, let it be a seed germ of vital religion; whatever the creed, let it be easily convertible into deed.

The hill where Christ went up to die
We now go up to live.

NEW FANCY IN FANCY WAISTS

Never before have the fancy waists been so artistically constructed and such things of beauty. This dainty confection is of lavender panne taffeta and mousseline de soie with appliques of white guipure outlined in silver threads. The yoke is of white mousseline de soie tucked across in narrow and wide tucks, while the lower part of the bodice is of lavender panne appliqued over with white lace galons. A chou and little cascade of lavender mousseline adorns the front of the corsage.

EVANS OF MONTEVIDEO

He Came from Minersville, Pa., and Has Made Millions in Uruguay

Over on South America's east coast at Uruguay's pretty capital dwells an American who is better known to the officers of all navies than any single individual in the world. This is Mr W D Evans of Montevideo, [illegible] White in [illegible].

For more than 40 years Mr Evans was the most prominent figure at Montevideo's port, having from a small beginning built up a business in ship chandlery until he was practically without competition in the harbor. It was from Minersville Pa that this present day millionaire set out for the lands beyond the equator. His advent in the harbor of Montevideo was as mate aboard a sailing ship. He saw a chance to make money and left his billet to start a business on shore. After having made an excellent start his venture was wrecked by the manipulations of his partner.

This meant another beginning and practically a harder struggle than the first, but Mr Evans had not started out to submit to failure. He was looking for success and meant to find it.

On his second race for fortune his most valuable possession was a boat with which he personally served his wares to the various ships. The stock which he carried in this same craft ofttimes represented his entire capital and in the rough harbor of Montevideo any hour might render him again penniless. He had many narrow escapes. Finally he had made a sufficient amount of money to enable him to send to Baltimore Md for a craft which would stand all weathers. With the new boat came added prosperity until finally it required a steam tug and several lighters to handle his enormous trade.

Prosperity in business made outside investments possible. These were handled with so much foresight that as Montevideo expanded the Evans properties increased in value until today they are worth millions. Mr Evans has retired from active business. He is succeeded by his former clerk, Manuel Bottini, an American citizen of foreign parentage.

Mr Evans has specially endeared himself to the officers of every navy which has had ships upon the South Atlantic station. These warships have always been his especial charge and no fighting craft ever entered the harbor of Montevideo that was not met by an Evans boat carrying ice, fruits, fresh provisions and all those things which are impossible accompaniments of a long cruise. To naval officers Mr Evans has been a banker and many an officer's wife has blessed this man from North America when she arrived at Montevideo and found her husband's ship not yet in port. "If you arrive in Montevideo and do not find me there, go to Evans. He will take care of you and see that you want for nothing," were the traveling instructions issued to officers' wives when they started to join their husbands on the station. Even now there is no change save the substitution of Bottini for Evans in the instructions, for the system is still maintained under his successor.

Since his retirement from active business Mr Evans spends most of his time at the Quinta del Evans, a magnificent suburban estate on the outskirts of Montevideo. This quinta has become a familiar spot to all visiting Americans, for one of Mr Evans' greatest delights is to entertain visitors from the states. A sojourn at the Evans home becomes entertainment indeed, for the quinta's hospitality is extremely lavish and when dispensed amid the estate's delightful surroundings becomes doubly attractive. The homestead itself is charmingly romantic, consisting of a series of buildings each representing a different era in Montevidean home building and all connected by tiled patios covered by vine clad trellises and broken by shaded nooks and splashing fountains. Hardly a room is there which does not give some proof of the owner's love for the states. Here is a pair of flags draped over the picture of some favorite American, and at another point a magnificently carved coat of arms of the United States done by a clever Uruguayan artist, while from the high flag staff above the quinta Old Glory flutters to signify that through half a century of residence in South America the Evans heart has remained faithful to the flag of his country. And this flag does not fly alone, for but a few hundred yards away it has an official companion which floats over the United States legation, where our minister to the republic is quartered in one of the houses built on a portion of the Evans estate. Thus has this man, beloved by every officer in the American navy, built up on the banks of the Rio de la Plata a home wherein American feeling throbs so strongly as though thousands of leagues did not separate the owner from the country which he so dearly loves.

There's Nothing Like It

in the [illegible]

THE MORNING TELEGRAPH is concededly the brightest daily paper in the union. Its news of the day is concise. Its financial news is authoritative. Its theatrical news is complete. Its racing news is simply unapproachable. It has special features that cannot be obtained from any other source.

THE SUNDAY TELEGRAPH is as good as half a dozen other weekly papers put together. It gives you six times the entertainment the average weekly does. It is brimful of tale and anecdote of persons and things you know, you ought to know or would like to know. It is a mighty interesting paper with an interesting personality.

THE PICTURE SUPPLEMENT is not equalled by any other newspaper on the face of the globe. The pictures are timely, interesting, newsy and new. They are in some respects superior to the original photographs and no amount of description could do them the justice that your own eyes would.

Sold everywhere by every live dealer every day in the week. If your dealer does not happen to have it on hand insist that he get it for you. If he is the right kind of a man he will supply you. If he won't supply you we will.

WHAT CAUSES DANDRUFF

Greatest European Authority on Skin Diseases Says It's a Germ

The old idea was that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off through a feverish condition of the scalp. Prof Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ disease. The germ burrows under the scalp throwing up the scales of cuticle and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Not only cures dandruff but stops falling hair and causes a luxuriant growth. Delightful hair dressing.

Thousands of men and women suffer from piles, especially women with female weakness, have this suffering to contend with in addition to their other ills. TABLER'S BUCKEYE PILE OINTMENT will give effect a cure. Price 50 cts in bottles, tubes 75 cts. Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co. 21 South Tejon street.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Sale.

Whereas, On the 14th day of September, A. D., 1900, a certain judgment was given and entered by the district court in and for the County of El Paso, State of Colorado, in cause No. 6[illegible], entitled J. A. Hayes and J. A. Hayes as trustee, plaintiff, vs. The Bi-Metallic Mining and Milling company, a corporation, defendant; and,

Whereas, It was provided in the said judgment, that unless the amount of the judgment therein, to-wit: Ten thousand one hundred and seventy-one dollars and thirty-five cents, and costs, be paid by the said defendant within thirty days from the date of said judgment, the undersigned, the sheriff of Pitkin county, Colorado, and in case of the absence of the said sheriff from his said county, then his deputy, should sell at public sale at the south front door of the court house in the City of Aspen, in said Pitkin county, Colorado, to the highest and best bidder; the following property and all the right, title and interest of the said The Bi-Metallic Mining and Milling company therein; said property being known and described as follows, to-wit:

All of the Logan, Discovery, Ajax, Black Metallic, Tripod, Tunnel, Brook, Atlantic Cable, Blue Diamond, Gour of Chancery, Morrow, Nottie, Nestor, Don, Little Maggie, Bridal Chamber, Snow Shoe and Barefoot lode mining claims, and all of the Lenado placer mining claim, situate in the Woody mining district, County of Pitkin and State of Colorado; also an undivided one-half interest in the water power and electric plant on said property, together with all buildings, machinery and appliances and fixtures therein.

Such sale to be made upon notice of not less than twenty days by publication in a daily newspaper published in the said County of El Paso, Colorado, and also in the said Pitkin county, Colorado, giving time and place of such sale; and,

Whereas, The said sum of money has not been paid nor any part thereof;

Now therefore, Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, in pursuance of said judgment and for the purpose of realizing the amount of said judgment, will sell at public sale to the highest and best bidder, said property or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay said judgment, and all the right, title and interest of the said The Bi-Metallic Mining and Milling company therein on Monday, the 19th day of November, A. D., 1900, at the hour of 2:15 o'clock p. m., at the south front door of the court house in the City of Aspen in said Pitkin county, Colorado.

P. F. Irving,
Sheriff of Pitkin county, Colorado.
